KING FLIES ON TOUR OF AIR STATIONS

His Majesty Makes Close Inspection of New Planes and Equipment

CANADIAN OFFICER PERFORMS STUNTS

LONDON, July 8 (P).—The King today made a flying tour of several stations of the Royal Air Force and inspected at first hand new equipment built under the country's augmented rearmament programme.

His Majesty flew from Windsor to Northolt Air Station in Middlesex. From there he went on to Wittering, East Sussex, and to Mildenhall and Mildenhall stations in Suffolk.

DUKE GOES, TOO
He flew in his own private plane, accompanied by his brother, the Duke of York. He was flown by his own personal pilot, Flight-Lieut. Edward Fielden.

At each air station demonstrations were given of the planes and other new defence equipment. One of three stunt flyers at Northolt, who performed daring feats in the air at the special request of the Sovereign, was a Canadian, Flying-Officer MacLachlan.

DARING EXHIBITION
"I've never seen such a flying exhibition in my life," he exclaimed after witnessing daredevil demonstrations by pilots of the bombers and fighting squadrons.

Fourteen Children Lose Lives When Building Collapses

LAHORE, India, July 8 (CP-Havas).—Fourteen children were killed and eighteen injured today in the region of Jhalum, 100 miles from here, when a building they were in collapsed. Its foundations had been weakened by heavy rain.

SCORES DIE IN U.S. HEAT WAVE

Nearly One Hundred Persons Lose Lives—Property Loss Is Great

CHICAGO, July 8 (P).—Upwards of 100 deaths from heat and drownings occurred today as record-breaking heat assailed the Atlantic seaboard.

It was the sixth consecutive day for 100-degree temperatures in the drought-stricken plains states, but despite a general forecast of continued warm and fair, long-awaited rain came to extreme northwest section of North Dakota, and neighboring Montana.

While Washington authorities speeded a united front attack on drought-created distress in the Northwest and the South, new estimates indicating a revision of previous damage totals poured in from the stricken territory. The total exceeded $300,000,000.

GIVEN CHANCE TO WORK OUT TAXES

Vancouver Council Decides to Permit Taxpayers to Earn Levy to Save Homes From Sale

VANCOUVER, July 8 (P).—A proposal that the city give work, at the rate of 50 cents per hour up to $60 maximum per month to taxpayers who are in danger of losing their homes through tax sale, was adopted unanimously by the Vancouver City Council today.

The proposal was put forward by Alderman W. W. Smith after he had been advised by Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipal Affairs, that the Provincial Government will not "validate further tax sale cancellations. Tax sales, Alderman Smith was told, cancelled in 1934 and 1935, will be resumed this year.

FIVE KILLED IN EXPLOSION AT ARSENAL

Blast in Research Department Purely Accidental—Cause Not Stated

NO OTHER PART OF BIG PLANT DAMAGED

LONDON, July 8 (P).—An explosion in the cruciform plant in the research department of the Royal Arsenal, at Woolwich, killed five persons today.

The victims, one of them Lieut. Commander P. A. M. Long, an officer in the armament supply department of the Admiralty, either were conducting or watching an experiment when the explosion occurred.

The research department of the huge arsenal employs 7,500 men.

KNEW NOTHING OF BLAST
But munitions storehouses and factories are spread over such an area—some 600 acres—that hundreds of other arsenal workers knew nothing of the explosion until they quit the shops to go home for the night.

The actual cause and the extent of the damage was not made public by the War Office. Officials, however, said the blast was purely accidental and that there was no question of sabotage.

The building in which the five were working was destroyed, but no other part of the arsenal was damaged.

AID FROM WOOLWICH
Fire trucks from Woolwich, a metropolitan borough on the Thames just east of London proper, aided arsenal firefighters in extinguishing flames, which followed the blast.

The other victims were identified as F. C. Lewis, a scientist; T. Briggall, a laboratory assistant, and two factory hands, F. J. Cooper and W. E. Johnson.

One other man was injured seriously.

FAMOUS SCREEN ACTOR IS DEAD

Thomas Meighan Succumbs To Illness—Had Long Theatrical Career

NEW YORK, July 8 (P).—Thomas Meighan, famed screen actor, died tonight at his Great Neck, Long Island, home.

He had been ill for some time and lapsed into a coma several hours before his death. His wife was with him at the end.

Thomas Meighan was Pittsburgh's gift to a movie public which liked its heroes definitely on the strong-arm side.

He was handsome, stood six feet one inch, carried his roles easily and had a fine sense of humor easily translatable into pantomime in the days before the screen found a voice.

Success attended his efforts on the stage prior to his entry into motion pictures in 1916, but the work which made him an actor was a film called "The Miracle Man," based on the well-known book by Frank L. Packard, of Lachine, Que.

Meighan's career was mapped out for him. He did not falter in taking advantage of the popularity his role had brought.

British Columbia Will Have Three Road Programmes

Ninety-Eight Miles of Surfacing to Be Undertaken by Province on Mainland—Ordinary Votes and Federal Agreement Separate

BRITISH COLUMBIA is to have three road programmes this year, in respect to only one of which was the Legislature consulted.—The first was the ordinary road appropriation, including bridges and ferries, at $1,400,000. The second is the Federal-Provincial programme now awaiting final approval at Ottawa, tentatively placed at $2,200,000 all told. The third was announced yesterday by Hon. F. M. MacPherson, and involves ninety-eight miles of additional roadwork in Mainland areas at a cost not yet stated.

The object of the third programme, the minister said, was to preserve highway developments carried out last year, and to treat fifty-six miles of additional thoroughfare in Mainland areas.—Vancouver Island is not included in the third programme. It was explained, because five miles of similar work have been done this year at South Wellington and at Goldstream.

The public-works department will call for bids immediately from road contractors and will launch the programme next week, with funds made available by the treasury. Mr. MacPherson said the work is to be spread over a number of areas, with a mile or two of highway to be treated with asphaltic mulch and other treatments on each of a number of routes not yet detailed.

Thirty-five miles of new asphaltic mulch will be laid in the province.

Premier Pattullo Arrives by Plane At Prince Rupert

PRINCE RUPERT, July 8 (P).—Premier T. D. Pattullo arrived here at 3:30 p.m. today on a tour of Northern British Columbia. The Premier left Victoria at 6 a.m. with his secretary, Ben Hehney, in a chartered plane piloted by E. W. C. Dobbin. The party expected to reach here at 11 a.m., but were delayed at Alert Bay by fog.

FIRE LOSSES ARE REDUCED

Lowest Record in Last Seven Years Reported Here for Six-Month Period

The lowest fire-loss figures in seven years, and the lowest since the appointment of Chief Alexander Munro to the head of the fire department is the six-month record of Victoria's fire-fighting force, it was learned yesterday.

During the last six months, $4,733,102 of property was actually under risk, and of this big total, the loss amounted to only $14,496, it was stated.

Compared with the first six months of last year, the 1936 fire loss figure showed a drop of $79,548, the figure for the first six months of 1935 being $94,044, and for this year, $14,496.

The six months' figures are the lowest since 1933, when Chief Munro was promoted to the present office, and are the lowest since 1929.

MANY ALARMS ANSWERED
During the past six months the department responded to 222 alarms, and out of this total, losses were sustained in only forty-two instances.

Despite the lack of an inspector, the department has inspected 4,998 buildings during the first half of the year, and sent out eighty notices as a result. These notices brought about improvements in the buildings designed to lessen the fire hazard in the city.

A total of 1,061 fire drills were held, and out of four court actions, two convictions were obtained.

Large Bills Discovered in Gypsy Camp

DALLAS, Tex., July 8 (P).—Sixteen gypsy fortune tellers, nine men and seven women, were held by police today after a raid on their camp, in which $25,000 in $1,000 and $500 bills were found.

Police tonight sought to identify two of the party as having "blessed" the $1,000 savings of a Butte, Montana, resident, only to disappear from sight, leaving the victim penniless.

The gypsies declared the seized money constituted their life savings.

Storms Damage Crops in France

PARIS, July 8 (P).—Heavy damages to crops from three days of rainstorms were reported today from widely scattered parts of France. Three persons were killed by lightning. The storms were most violent around Reims, Tours, Strasbourg, Moulins and Tarbes. Water flooded cellars in some places.

Addis Ababa heard of the killings only yesterday, from Rev. Father Barrolo, a passenger who escaped from the hostile tribesmen.

THREE NOTED AIRMEN
Three of the victims were among Italy's best known aviators. They were General Vincenzo Macchiocci, who during the Ethiopian war was assistant chief of aviation in East Africa. Major Antonio Locatelli, member of the Balbo mass flight to Chicago in 1933, and Colonel Carlo Galderini.

Italian newspapers, cautiously printing the official communique announcing the ambush on an inside page, were careful to point out the "massacre" did not mean that organized and armed opposition existed in Ethiopia. It was emphasized the aviators were ambushed by "bandits."

Two Killed When Train Hits Car

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., July 8 (P).—Two persons were killed instantly tonight when an automobile struck a Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train at a level crossing two miles west of here.

The dead are George Hitchcock, manager of a harness company here, and Miss Hainstock, a registered nurse. They were the only occupants of the automobile.

Communist Party's Leader in France Rebukes Minister of Interior for Promise to Prevent Factory Occupations by That Means—Employers Demand Government Action

ITALY ORDERS MASS ATTACKS

Fleet of Planes Sent to Hinterland in Answer to Ethiopian Ambush

ROME, July 8 (P).—Italy mourned ten aviators in an Ethiopian ambush tonight, and reports from Addis Ababa said sent a fleet of planes into the hinterland to deal out swift punishment of the attackers.

"Mass reprisals," it was reported, were ordered against the Walleja Province, Western Ethiopia, where the aviators were ambushed after they had alighted on reconnaissance flight on June 28.

Addis Ababa heard of the killings only yesterday, from Rev. Father Barrolo, a passenger who escaped from the hostile tribesmen.

CROP-KILLING DROUGHT ENDS

Showers Over Great Part of Prairies Renew Hope for Fair Grain Harvest

WINNIPEG, July 8 (P).—Cooling rains that brought a new life to wheat crops in scattered areas smashed a haphazard triangle across three Prairie provinces today.

The welcome moisture, reported over mid-western and northern sections of Alberta and Saskatchewan last night, pushed its way into southeastern Saskatchewan and the southwest corner of Manitoba, bringing added relief to drought-stricken areas parched under an eleven-day heat wave.

HOPE IS RENEWED
Encouraged by the life-giving demonstration, farmers renewed hope that something like a crop would be saved from the vast areas planted under promising conditions this Spring. Lone area where moisture was not reported was the southwestern strip from Assiniboia to the Alberta boundary and to the north.

A return to more normal temperatures with forecasts of more moisture to come was predicted in the daily bulletin posted by the Dominion weather office.

Tanks, Armored Cars and Motorized Troops Parade Through Streets

ACTION IS EXPECTED IN INNER MONGOLIA

PEIPING, China, July 8 (P).—Rumbling tanks, a motorized cars and hundreds of motorized Japanese troops startled Peiping's placid and historic legation quarter today.

Flags flew, bugles sounded and great quantities of war materials were paraded through the international district.

It was the first time the huge caterpillars had been seen in the legation quarter. No other country has such equipment here.

PREPARED FOR ANYTHING
Half a dozen Japanese generals appeared in the demonstration, intended, apparently, to show Chinese and foreigners Japan is prepared to deal with anybody who resists her mainland military.

Reports from Ninghsia Province, coincidentally, indicated Japan had all but completed a string of wireless-equipped military missions dominating the 2,000-mile length of Inner Mongolia from west of the Manchukuo border.

ESTABLISHED FAR AFIELD
The advice said such a mission just had established itself among the potent Alaskan League of Inner Mongolia in Western Suiyuan and Eastern Ninghsia Provinces.

Some observers suggested the next Japanese move would be to drive out Suiyuan's Chinese Governor, Pu Tso-Yi, who represents the last outpost of Chinese authority in Inner Mongolia, and has refused stubbornly to respond to Japanese advances.

DEADLOCKED ON STRAITS ISSUE

Russia and Britain Unable To Agree on Warship Passage in Dardanelles

MONTREUX, Switzerland, July 8 (P).—Conflicting desires of Great Britain and Russia for warship passage in the Dardanelles, still deadlocked the Montreux conference tonight.

At the same time the Russian delegation, alarmed over the sensation created when it announced to the press it had received orders from Moscow to leave if Britain did not make considerable concessions, officially told the British delegation it did not intend to resort to such tactics.

TO SEEK COMPROMISE
Joseph Paul-Boncour, of France, and Nicholas Politis, of Greece, were asked to seek a compromise between the two powers.

France backed the Soviet stand that the Dardanelles Straits connecting the Black and Mediterranean Seas should be closed to all belligerents unless the warring nations were carrying out a League of Nations mission of acting under regional peace blessed by the League.

WANTS FREE PASSAGE
Britain still demanded the Straits be kept open in the event she was a belligerent, agreeing, however, to a plan whereby Turkey could close the Straits if that nation deemed her security threatened.

Russia contended the eastward passage of non-Black Sea powers such as Great Britain, should be restricted, and at the same time demanded the right to move her warships in either direction through the Dardanelles in unrestricted numbers.

FLAMES DESTROY MINE BUILDINGS

Forest Fire Flare at Little Long Lac—Three Reported Missing At Geraldton

PORT ARTHUR, July 8 (P).—Panned by a high wind, forest fire in the Little Long Lac district, 160 miles east of here, flared into new life today to bring destruction to one thriving camp site and threaten another.

Ontario Forestry Service officers at Geraldton reported camp buildings at the MacLeod-Corbin Company mine were destroyed and the fire within reach of the Hard Rock mining property across the road. More than 200 men were rushed from surrounding camps to aid the fire-fighters combat the newest blaze. Reports received from Geraldton said three unidentified men were missing.

Thousands Meet to Mark Centenary of Joseph Chamberlain

Albert Hall Packed With Vast Audience for Programme Honoring Memory of Great Statesman and Champion of Imperial Preference

LONDON, July 8 (P)—A vast centenary audience, gathered in Albert Hall, paid homage tonight to a fifty-foot floodlit picture of the late Joseph Chamberlain, one of the prominent Conservative leaders at the turn of the century and in the first decade of the twentieth century.

Neville Chamberlain, a son of Joseph, who was born in 1836, is Chancellor of the Exchequer.

PICTURE UNVEILED
Close to 10,000 gathered for tonight's programme in London's largest auditorium. Fifty-foot Union Jack draped both sides of the picture, which was solemnly unveiled during the proceedings. At its base stretched an illuminated map of the Empire, guarded by a statue of the British lion with a laurel wreath on its pedestal.

The first part of the programme, including a speech by L. S. Amery, former Dominions and Colonial Secretary, was designed to commemorate the work for which Joseph Chamberlain was famed at the close of the last century.

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE
This was his campaign for closer economic co-operation with the Empire—known as imperial preference—on which he spent "all that was left to him of health and strength," in the words of the organizing committee.

A fanfare of trumpets, heralding a procession of standard bearers carrying ninety Empire flags, opened the second part of the programme, symbolic of imperial unity.

A MIGHTY CHORUS
Standard bearers took up positions in mass formation on each side of the portrait. Led by the choir the huge audience sang Kipling's "Recessional" and "Land of Hope and Glory" before Sir Austen Chamberlain, former Foreign Secretary and half-brother to Neville, rose to speak.

Neville himself was the central figure in simultaneous celebrations in Birmingham, where his father was thrice mayor. There he laid a wreath on his father's grave.

"Britons alert" and "think imperially" were two of the slogans the speakers used.

SEE DANGER IN JAP SMUGGLING

Sino-Japanese Relations Are Near Crisis Over Reported Illicit Imports

NANKING, July 8 (P)—Continued refusal by Japan to prevent her nationals from smuggling manufactured goods and raw materials into China and the consequent enforcement of drastic preventive measures, is hurrying Sino-Japanese relations toward a crisis of the gravest nature, in the opinion of international authorities at the Chinese capital.

Highest Chinese authorities at Nanking admit unofficially the complications of the North China situation render it impossible for China to prevent the smuggling of merchandise into Hopeh and Chahar by Japanese and Koreans.

Nanking further appreciates the difficulty of keeping these illicitly-imported goods from penetrating into the hinterland as long as Japanese troops are in virtual control of the Hopeh terminal of railroads and highways.

FORCE THREATENED
The Chinese national authorities, however, are determined to enforce their special anti-smuggling regulations south of the Yellow River, and to use military and police force against persons suspected of transporting contraband, whatever their nationality.

The Japanese Embassy has not protested against the arrest of Japanese Nationals caught conveying smuggled goods to potential markets in North Kiangsu Province, for the time being remaining content to repatriate Japanese turned over to the Japanese consulates concerned.

Some time ago the Embassy expressed fears that use of armed force against smugglers might lead to serious incidents. Just such a one developed June 22 when a Chinese customs cutter fired on a steamer of Japanese register in the Revival in some form of the anti-Japanese boycott is another development which Japanese authorities in China foresee as a possible result of the situation. Such a result, state Japanese spokesmen, could cause only grave consequences.

ON CHINA'S MARKET
Since the creation of the 1931 boycott, merchandise bearing the "Made-in-Japan" label has found its way to some of China's principal markets. Cotton and artificial silk are to be found on the shelves of all leading stores in Nanking. Radio sets and parts are in use in thousands of homes.

The success of Japanese factories in turning out automobile tires which look like well-known European brands but which cost about half as much, had an officially-muffled echo in Nanking recently when the capital's only bus company signed a contract with a Japanese concern to supply tires for the whole fleet of buses which provide transportation for Nanking's million inhabitants.

In time of emergency these Japanese-tired buses would be commandeered to transport troops and war supplies.

We are justified by faith alone, but the faith that justifies is never alone.

Portion of Oak Bay Promenade Completed

Above is pictured a completed portion of the Oak Bay promenade, running along Beach Drive. When completed, this walk will cover the Oak Bay waterfront from Oak Bay Beach to the Uplands gates. Short portions will be completed each year until the whole walk is finished. To afford easy access to the beach, steps to the water have been constructed at frequent intervals. Residents of the section are loud in their praise of the undertaking which, they feel, fills a long needed want in Oak Bay.

ARABS RESUMING SNIPING TACTICS

British Soldier Fatally Wounded After Manoeuvres in Desert—Redoubting Strike Efforts

JERUSALEM, July 8 (P)—A British private succumbed to wounds today as Arabs, after a brief respite, resumed a campaign of sniping and firing on convoys from the hills.

The private, attached to the Seaforth Highlanders, was the sixth British soldier to die in the current disorders. He was wounded when a detachment of troops were fired upon while returning to Nabius after mopping-up manoeuvres in the desert.

There were indications that Arab leaders were redoubting their efforts to continue the general strike against Jewish immigration in sections where it appeared to be weakening.

FAMOUS PIANIST TURNS TO MOVIES

Jan Paderewski, Polish Patriot, to Start Work on British Production This Month

LONDON, July 8 (P)—At the age of seventy-five, Ignace Jan Paderewski is taking his piano into the heat and glare of the motion picture studio. For the first time in his long career the famous pianist and Polish patriot has signed to appear in a film. He has been signed by Lothar Mendes, American director, now heading his own British production company, for the lead role in a film temporarily titled "Moonlight Sonata."

Work on the picture starts this month, with Mendes himself in the director's chair.

"Paderewski, of course, will have the role of a musician," explains the vigorous, hard-working Mendes. "But it will be a role as only Paderewski can play it; no velvet-jacketed product of the make-up artists."

"Nor will the film be merely the means of permitting Paderewski to play his piano from start to finish. The story permits an honest portrayal of the effect of a great musician on the lives of several other people."

It was the story, in fact, which had much to do with persuading Paderewski to come to the film. His music will be there, but it will be at all times be purposeful.

Film people here are confident that Paderewski, with his striking appearance, the amazing head and deep-set kindly eyes, will have his personality enhanced by the film. His age is not regarded as a drawback and no film tests were made.

"He is as alive, as vital, as ever," said Mendes after meeting the musician in Paris and signing the contract. "He is accepting a new medium of expression with extraordinary interest, insisting on being informed as to every detail."

Why Paderewski, who has made many fortunes—and given them away—should emerge from his Switzerland retreat to enter motion pictures is something of a mystery.

That he is to receive a fifty sum is taken for granted, but there are neither hints nor rumors of any undue need of money.

It is neither safe nor prudent to do anything against conscience—Luther.

ARRANGEMENTS are being made to broadcast the ceremonies attached to the dedication of the Cathedral Bells here, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It was announced last night. The programme will last for thirty minutes and will be relayed to CFCF, Victoria, and CKWX, Vancouver, it is understood.

Smothering Heat Wave In Ontario

TORONTO, July 8 (P)—A smothering heat wave that exploded weather records, blanketed Ontario today and left sun-baked fields still thinking for a sprinkle of rain.

While farmers feared for their drought-stricken crops that wilted and browned, reports came in rapid succession in mid-afternoon of temperatures that soared to 100 degrees and more. The temperature here was 104.5 in the shade.

Canadian Honored By U.S. Society

OTTAWA, July 8 (P)—Lawrence J. Burpee, Ottawa, president of the Royal Society of Canada, has been unanimously elected a life member of the National Geographic Society of the United States. It was announced following a special meeting of the board of trustees held in Washington.

Mr. Burpee, for six years editor of The Canadian Geographical Journal, shares this honor with Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, Sir Wilfrid Grenfell, Admiral Joseph Straus, Captain Donald B. MacMillan, Dr. Helmut B. R. G. McConnell, also of Ottawa, and former director of the Geological Survey of Canada, Dr. J. B. Tyrrell, of Toronto, and others.

Mr. Burpee is the author of more than a score of books relating to Canadian history, geography and related subjects, and has also written special articles for the Encyclopaedia Britannica and other similar works of reference.

He is a gold medalist of both the Royal Society of Canada and the Academy of France.

BUSH FIRE DESTROYS VALUABLE TIMBER

FERNIE, B.C., July 8 (P)—The first bush fire of the season, which swept up Cedar Valley, destroying several acres of standing cedar and spruce, was under control tonight. Stacks of cut telephone poles and a bunkhouse were destroyed on the Wilson & Dick property.

According to the owners, the timber destroyed would have produced about 300,000 poles. Cause of the fire is unknown. During the night a torrential rain brought the fire under control.

Victory Claimed Over Red Troops

PEIPING, July 8 (CP-Havas)—Government troops scored an important victory over Red forces in the neighborhood of Weichow in Shensi, Chinese reports said today. The Reds lost 400 killed and 200 taken prisoners, it was said. The defeated rebels fled westward to join the Red force that has already penetrated Ninghsia Province to the west and north of Shensi.

TO OBSERVE SIGNING OF INDIAN PACT

Pageant to Mark Anniversary to Be Held at Carlton, Sask.

PAVED THE WAY FOR WEST'S SETTLEMENT

CARLTON, Sask., July 8 (P)—Veterans of the West's last frontier will celebrate here this year the diamond jubilee of a treaty with the Great White Mother, Queen Victoria. The occasion will mark surrender by the Cree of all Indian rights to 120,000 square miles of fertile Prairie land along the Saskatchewan River Valley.

Tribal ceremonies, time-honored long before the white man arrived, will be re-enacted August 11 and 12 at a monster gathering of the tribe. Invitations to attend will be extended Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General, Premier Mackenzie King and other distinguished public men.

OLD CAMP GROUNDS
Wheat is ripening today on the old camp grounds of historic Fort Carlton, forty miles southwest of Prince Albert, where Treaty No. 6 was signed sixty years ago. A similar treaty was signed at Fort Pitt, near Battleford, in return for territory ceded to the Government. Indian reserves were established at Duck Lake, Carlton, Battleford and Onion Lake to the west.

Centuries ago the Redman was undisputed owner of vast stretches of the North American continent. Then came the white man. Buffalo herds thinned and game disappeared before the iron horse. Treaties were signed with the Indians to allow unrest and assist in peaceful settlement of the West.

To commemorate the historic event more than 2,000 braves gathered from reserves between Prince Albert and the Alberta boundary line, will parade in tribal costumes. They will bring tents and belongings on carts and travois as they did in 1876 when the treaty was signed.

CHIEF SWEET GRASS
Scenes leading up to the agreement on behalf of the Indians by Sweet Grass, head chief of all the Cree, and Mistawasis, head chief of the Carlton Cree, and by the Crown by Lieutenant-Governor Alexander Morris and his commissioners, will be re-lived. Royal Canadian Mounted Police will take part and ceremonial dances will conclude the celebration. The pact was signed on August 23. On the following day, with impressive ceremony, the principal chiefs of the tribe were presented with uniforms, medals and flags, and the remainder of the day was spent in paying out treaty money.

By the treaty the Indians ceded their territorial rights in return for reserves consisting of 640 acres of land for each family of five. They retained the privilege of hunting and fishing wherever they wished, with the exception of areas taken over by settlers.

The Government agreed to pay annually to each man, woman and child, $5; to each head man or councillor, $18, and to each chief, $25. The Indians were promised powder, shot and twine in addition to seed, oxen and implements for those who wished to farm. Schools were to be established for the children, and intoxicating beverages forever barred from the reserves.

TRIPLET CALVES BORN
WHITBY, July 8 (P)—Triplets have arrived at Southaven Farm, owned by G. Norman Irwin, in the form of calves born to a five-year-old brown Swiss cow. The calves appear normal in every way. Their total weight is 130 pounds.

THREE DROWN WHEN CANOE IS CAPSIZED
ROUYN, Que., July 8 (P)—Three persons drowned today when a canoe capsized 200 feet from the shore in Lake Ossiago, a mile east of this Northern Quebec town. Armand Boulay, thirty-nine; Mrs. Albert Duguay, twenty-nine, and her young son, Armand, all of Rouyn, lost their lives when the light craft turned over off Blake's Point.

INDUSTRIES FAIR RECORD
LONDON (P)—Another banner year for the British Industries Fair is expected this year by the department of overseas trade. Early applications for space exceed those of the same period last year.

Lord Hugh Cecil New Eton Provost
LONDON, July 8 (CP-Havas)—King Edward today approved the appointment of Lord Hugh Cecil as provost of Eton, succeeding the late Montague Rhodes James.

TO ASK FOR OPINION ON LABOR LAWS

Government to Send Four Legislative Enactments
To Privy Council

PROVINCES TO APPEAL TWO MORE MEASURES

OTTAWA, July 8 (C.P.)—The highest judicial tribunal in the British Empire will be asked by Canada to determine validity of four legislative enactments all directly affecting labor, it was announced today.

They are items in the "reform legislation" brought down by the Bennett Administration. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, announced the judicial committee of the Privy Council would be asked to pass the constitutionality of the Employment and Social Insurance Act; and the acts which call for one day's rest in seven, a forty-eight-hour week, and payment of minimum wages.

PROVINCES TO APPEAL
Coupled with the announcement that Canada will appeal these four enactments was "Mr. Lapointe's statement that provinces would submit references to the Privy Council concerning the validity of Section 498A of the Criminal Code, and the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act.

Only two of the eight "new deal" enactments were not directly mentioned in the minister's statement. They are the Natural Products Marketing Act and the Dominion Trade and Industries Commission Act. No official intimation was given regarding them.

The Marketing Act was regarded as one of the most important pieces of legislation among the eight bills recently passed upon by the Supreme Court of Canada. The court decided it ultra vires of the Canadian Parliament. It found partly valid the Dominion Trade and Industries Commission Act.

PLANS NOT ANNOUNCED
What the Government will do in respect to the Marketing Act remains, therefore, a mystery. Since it was turned down definitely by the highest court in Canada, the supposition is that some effort will be made by amendment to render it workable. If, in its present form, the act is without Dominion jurisdiction, it may be the Government preferred not to risk an additional judgment against it. It is understood that bringing it within the Federal ambit.

The Dominion Trade and Industries Commission Act was found partly valid by the Supreme Court and this may also be dealt with by amendment, although, again, no information of an official nature is available.

Government officials acted promptly during the day to arbitrate a few new small strikes in the provinces. A decrease in the strikers' ranks was reported officially. It was estimated that 83,237 workers were still absent from their jobs throughout the nation.

FORCEFUL PERSUASION

At Argenteuil, barber shop owners put a new wrinkle into the occupation strikes. Angry at the price-cutting of a female competitor, they occupied her shop and declared they would remain in it until she brought her prices up to their own level.

In the meantime, the Leftist Government's project to nationalize France's arms industries was ap-

Given a rousing send-off by Mayor Camille Houde, in Montreal, June 28, the train reached Vancouver at the end of its 3,000-mile run promptly on time, to be welcomed by Mayor G. G. proved by the army committee of the Chamber of Deputies tonight. The measure, it is said, will necessitate a preliminary outlay of 800,000,000 francs (about $53,000,000) for experimental expropriation of factories serving the nation's land forces.

HARDER TO SUPERVISE
Defence Minister Edouard Daladier, authoritative source declared, told the committee that plants producing army equipment would be nationalized first because naval and aviation factories are more occupied with production for civilian use and therefore harder to place under Government supervision.

FLIES ON TOUR OF AIR STATIONS

At Northolt the King jumped nimbly from the plane as it grounded. He was met by Air Chief Marshal Sir Edward Ellington and other officials. The small group was admitted to various departments, where the major defence secrets are housed.

THOROUGHLY EXAMINED

Both the King and his brother were most interested in the latest so-called submarine spit-fire single-seater fighting plane, declared to be the fastest military machine in the world. The King climbed into the cockpit and made a thorough examination of the various instruments.

There were similar large-scale demonstrations at Wittering, Mildenhall and Martlesham. At Mildenhall Airborne the King showed particular interest in the bombing craft and reviewed pilots. At Martlesham he inspected various new types of airplanes.

Appointed Executive Assistant

Norman Wilks, pianist and teacher, who was here recently, has been appointed to the position of executive assistant to the principal, Sir Ernest MacMillan, the Toronto Conservatory of Music announced yesterday. Mr. Wilks will assume under Sir Ernest a large share of administrative responsibility, and will relieve the principal of considerable detail work.

Dr. Healey Willan, whose association with the conservatory dates back to 1913, and who has been vice-principal since that year, has been granted one year's leave of absence. Mr. Wilks has a distinguished war record. He joined the British forces in France in October, 1914. He was seriously wounded at Arras in 1917, and after a year in hospital he performed light duties at home until 1919. He was mentioned in dispatches and awarded the Military Cross. The war interrupted a brilliant career as concert pianist, which was resumed in 1920 and has continued successfully since then.

LOCAL AIR OFFICER KILLED IN CRASH

Captain Douglas E. McIntosh was the son of Judge and Mrs. J. C. McIntosh. He was born in Esquimalt on January 27, 1909 and educated in Oak Bay public and high school and Brentwood College. He graduated from Royal Military College, Kingston, in 1930 and McGill University in 1933. Following his graduation from Military College he joined the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals and was later gazetted a captain. He went to England in October, 1935, on exchange duty and transferred to Egypt two months later.

Captain McIntosh distinguished himself early in his academic career by winning the Governor-General's medal for the Victoria district in entrance examinations in 1923 while attending Monterey School in Oak Bay. After leaving Monterey he went to Brentwood College for two years and took his matriculation at the Oak Bay High School.

AT MILITARY COLLEGE

After completing his studies here,

Captain McIntosh went to Kingston and entered Royal Military College. During the summer vacations he took a branch course in signalling, and, after graduating from the military college, he entered McGill University.

In March last year he visited his parents here and shortly afterwards left for England. He was transferred to Egypt, when Great Britain sent troops to that area during the Italo-Ethiopian crisis. He was one of the Canadian officers on loan to the Imperial Forces under the interchange system.

WAS POPULAR HERE

Captain McIntosh was well known and well liked by his schoolmates and was a popular figure in the younger set. He played on some of the Oak Bay School teams and was generally recognized as a young man of great promise.

His death will be mourned by a wide circle of friends and the sympathy of the whole community will go out to Judge and Mrs. McIntosh, his brothers and sisters.

Bereaved by his parents, he is survived by one brother, Forbes, in the Royal Canadian Artillery who is at present at a school of instruction in England, and three sisters, Mrs. E. P. Tupper, wife of Lieutenant Tupper of H.M.C.S. Starna, and the Misses Helen and Betty at home.

EXPRESSES SYMPATHY
In the County Court here yesterday afternoon, Judge J. N. Ellis, of Vancouver, before proceeding to the consideration of the case before him, took occasion to express his sorrow to his brother Judge J. C. McIntosh, Mrs. McIntosh and members of their family, in the death of their son and brother. He said he wished to convey his deepest sympathy with the bereaved family.

Henry Hall, K.C., and Stuart Henderson, who were counsel in the case before his Honor joined with the judge in expressing their deep sorrow at the news of the death of Captain McIntosh and wished to convey to Judge McIntosh and family deep sympathy in their bereavement.

NO BREACH OF TRUST IMPLIED

Judge J. N. Ellis Dismisses
Charges Against C. Harold
Tait in County Court

In the County Court here yesterday afternoon, Judge J. N. Ellis, of Vancouver, after hearing addresses of counsel in the case of Rex vs. C. Harold Tait, found no reason for believing that the accused was guilty of the charges laid, and accordingly acquitted him. The case was one arising out of the transactions of P. J. H. Van Oudenal and J. M. Potter in promoting a sawmill at Sooke. The allegation against Mr. Tait was that while acting for Van Oudenal and Potter he had received a cheque signed by the bank officials and was holding it only until it was alleged by the prosecution was to be used for the paying off of a chattel mortgage owing on the property. The money was supplied by Charles Desford and Oswald H. Handley, the former of whom was supplying the money intended to get the mill started.

The defence of Mr. Tait was that he knew of no earmarking of the $400, representing the face value of the cheque, for the purpose of meeting the mortgage. He had taken the money to hold for the general purposes connected with starting the mill and was holding it only until an account was opened with a bank by the promoters.

COULD NOT REFUSE

In deciding the case, His Honor said that he could not see that Mr. Tait could well refuse to give back the money to the one who handed it to him to hold for him. The evidence as to the payment of the money over to Mr. Tait indicated that it was paid under conditions requiring payment back to the person who gave it to him.

He alluded in his judgment to the relations between Mr. Tait and Mr. Desford, saying that during the whole of the negotiations Mr. Tait had shown no inclination to keep information back from Mr. Desford that should be given. In support of this, he mentioned that when the articles of association were prepared by Mr. Tait for the incorporation of the new company, the latter gave a copy to Mr. Desford with the advice to consult with any other lawyer he chose regarding it.

COMPLIMENTS MR. HALL

Judge Ellis complimented Henry C. Hall, K.C., Crown counsel, in presenting the case and especially called attention to the ability shown by him in eliciting the information he did from the witnesses Desford and Handley. In the cross-examination of the accused, nothing was omitted that should have been done to bring the facts fully before the court. In order that the fullest evidence might be before the court, Judge Ellis, on the conclusion of the case for the Crown, asked Stuart Henderson, counsel for the accused, to present the evidence for the defence so that there might be no misunderstanding in connection with the case.

Although his birthday is one of the two events he annually celebrates—the other is the anniversary of his first job—the aged multimillionaire did not let it interfere with his daily nap after dinner or his daily afternoon automobile ride.

School Board Will Again Ask
Hon. G. M. Weir for Revision of Curriculum

Trustees W. C. Moresby, K.C.; Percy E. George and Kenneth Ferguson, with Municipal School Inspector George H. Deane, were appointed to a committee by the school board last night to wait upon Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, and discuss with him the securing of permission to continue three-year courses in the Victoria High School.

The board had been informed that a four-year course was now compulsory. Up to the present, some 20 per cent of the students had a sufficient rating to take a three-year course. This privilege, apparently, is to cease.

Trustee George, who sponsored the original motion some time ago asking the Government to revise the curriculum to make a three-year course possible, felt keenly on the matter, and quoted figures to show how unjust a compulsory four-year course would be on many students.

Expected to Draw Many Visitors From Southwest

"Remember the Alamo!" The cry that roused early Texans and led them to victory over the Spanish-Mexicans and drove the Dons from the country, will be heard again this summer when the great Lone Star state holds its Centennial celebrations.

Col. W. S. Faulkner, retired United States army officer, staying at the Dominion Hotel with his wife and niece, Miss Jessie Welch, yesterday said that great plans had been made for the celebrations, which were expected to draw visitors from all over the Southwest.

The visitors are from San Antonio, where at present "everyone is struggling to evade the heat," Colonel Faulkner said, with a laugh. He was so captivated with Victoria was

PROTEST ACTION OF CITY COUNCIL

Objection was taken by the school board last night to the recent action of the City Council in deciding to seek an amendment to the Municipal Act permitting the council to merge the positions of city building inspector and supervisor of school buildings and grounds.

A committee comprising Trustees Percy George, Walter E. Staniland, John Wallace and W. C. Moresby, K.C., was appointed to wait upon the City Council and explain why the dual position was not feasible.

Will Take to Planes For Improvement of Weather Forecasts

Canadian Government to Co-operate With United States by Making Study of Upper Air Conditions in North

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—Weathermen will soon begin making daily plane flights at five important "blind spots" on present North America weather maps to enable the weather bureau to make more accurate forecasts based on upper air conditions.

Weather bureau officials said tonight that—in addition to the twenty-three stations at which high altitude recordings are now made—daily flights will be started at Miami, Fla.; Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.; and Salt Lake City, Utah, on August 1, and at Oakland, Calif., on September 1.

An airplane weather observer also will begin daily flights at Fairbanks, Alaska, on September 15 and continue until March 15.

TO STUDY COLD WAVES
The Fairbanks flights, officials said, will be made to study the cold waves that sweep out of Alaska every winter and chill extensive areas in the United States.

The Canadian Government is co-operating in the studies and is considering establishing a similar station at Port Smith, N.W.T., officials said.

The weathermen make the daily flights at an altitude of 17,000 feet to gather information on temperature, pressure, humidity and other conditions on which to base analyses of air structure.

AID TO AIRCRAFT
Weather officials explained that plane observations were necessary to study the polar and tropical air masses high above the earth's surface. By means of the observations, the top of cloudy layers, the extent of icing, and other important air conditions are also determined for the safe operation of aircraft through and over cloud masses.

APPOINT NEW SUPERVISOR IN SCHOOLS

Stanley Bulley Will Direct Music Curriculum and Train Teachers

DONALD S. CAMERON IS SUPERANNATED

STANLEY BULLEY

Stanley Bulley, organist and choir-master of Christ Church Cathedral and a member of the Summer School staff, last night was appointed supervisor of music in Victoria schools, by the city school board.

Commencing with the Fall term, a new curriculum in music will be established, and a new method of training introduced. Mr. Bulley's duties will include the holding of classes for junior and senior school teachers. These teachers are to be trained by the supervisor in carrying out the music curriculum. Mr. Bulley also will be called upon to supervise the work and give instructions to the students.

This appointment has been made in line with the new policy of granting credits for music in the Victoria High School.

Mr. Bulley came to this city from England several years ago. He taught for two years in the Royal Academy of Music before coming here.

One other appointment was made to the teaching staff last night.

P. O. Hole was appointed as manual training teacher at North Ward School to replace Donald S. Cameron, who is retiring.

Obituary

DEWAR—The death occurred suddenly at the family residence yesterday morning of Mrs. Florence Gwendoline Dewar, aged fifty years, wife of James A. Dewar, of Jasmine Avenue, Marigold. Mrs. Dewar was born in England and had been a resident of this city for the past twenty-five years, with the exception of two years spent as a nurse overseas in the Great War. She was a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital and on the outbreak of war proceeded overseas with Col. E. C. Hart with a British Columbia hospital unit, and served some time with the Imperial forces, afterwards serving with Col. Hermann Robertson. She is survived by her husband; two daughters, Misses Gwendolyn and June; her parents, and a brother and sister in England. She was a member of the Burns Club of Victoria. The remains are resting at McCall Brothers' Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

BADCOCK—The funeral of the late Annie Badcock, who passed away in this city on Monday, took place on Wednesday afternoon. George Bone conducted the service, during which the hymns "Brief Life Is Now Our Portion" and "Life Is the Time to Serve the Lord" were sung. Interment was made in Colwood Burial Park.

ROBERTSON—The funeral of Baby Denise Mary Josephine Robertson will be held on Friday, the cortege leaving Haywards B.C. Funeral Chapel at 8:30 a.m. and proceeding to Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Willows, where mass will be celebrated by Rev. J. R. Buckley at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in Colwood Burial Park.

ABLETT—Rev. James Hood conducted an impressive service at the funeral of Mrs. Ida Charlotte Ablett yesterday afternoon, at which many friends were present. The hymns sung were "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and "Abide With Me." The casket and hearse were banked with floral tributes. The following acted as pallbearers: D. W. Davies, Grant Johnson, L. Young, Walter S. Miles, P. Sherwood and W. A. Blake. The remains were laid at rest in Rose Bay Cemetery.

BROADWOOD—Captain John Henry Broadwood, aged fifty-five years, died yesterday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. He was born in England, and for the past five years had resided at Colwood. He was an Imperial soldier, having served in the South African and Great War. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Alice Hedley-Park and Mrs. Ethel Leonard, both of Colwood. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Permission Given Leading Actor to Stay Here Longer

Without slackening their fast pace, cast and technical staff of the motion picture, "Vengeance of the Forest," being produced by Central Films, Limited, received word yesterday that the leading man, William Gargan, will not be needed in Hollywood by next Wednesday, as previously scheduled.

Adverse weather conditions all last week at Cowichan Lake, where the company was on location, hampered production. Returning here over the week-end they have been working at a frenzied speed in an endeavor to catch up lost time. Interiors were "shot" yesterday at the Willows studio and exteriors at Beaver Lake.

Kenneth J. Bishop, president-producer of the local company, was advised that machinery to be used by the Gaumont-British Film Company, when it is loaned to the Willows studios next month, is on the way here. The British company will take interior "shots" in connection with its picture, "The Great Barrier," which tells the story of the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway through the Rockies. The Willows studio is the only building of its sort in Western Canada.

SCHOOL BOYS OCCUPY RANGE

Compete for Various Trophies at Bisley While Seniors Rest

BISLEY CAMP, Surrey, July 8.—Schoolboys took over the Bisley rifle ranges today at the National Rifle Association's meeting, giving the Canadians and other Empire teams a rest.

The weather was cloudy with a threat of rain as the schoolboy marksmen began special sweepstakes competitions. Tomorrow they will fire for the Ashburton Challenge Shield.

Five fewer teams are competing this year for the Ashburton, open to a team of eight members from any school with a junior division of the Officers' Training Corps. In some quarters it is believed a junior Ashburton would encourage the smaller schools and a shoot may be started. Results of several of yesterday's events were given out today.

CAPTAINS TROPHY
The Lewis Cup Trophy was won by H.M.S. Drake with two teams scoring an aggregate of 256. The Cambridge Challenge Cup went to the Devonshire Regiment, whose team score of 157 was the highest for any Territorial Army entry.

The Sherwood Foresters won the Volongid Challenge Cup for pairs with a score of 74, six short of possible. A team of four from H.M.S. Drake won the Chevaliers Memorial rapid-firing competition.

Premier Hopes To Visit Coast During August

OTTAWA, July 8.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today he "hoped" to make a trip West as far as Vancouver during August, before he leaves in September to head Canada's delegation to the League of Nations meeting at Geneva.

It will depend, he said, on how many of his colleagues, six of whom will be in Europe this month, will have returned by early August.

Hungarian Wheat Alone for Italy

ROME, July 8.—An Italian-Hungarian agreement under which Italy will purchase sufficient wheat to meet her import requirements, today followed action in placing wheat again on the list of products requiring special importation permits.

The move, observers said, would have the effect of almost entirely closing Italy to other wheat exporters. Shipments now on the way to Italy were reported not affected, however.

Airplane Taxes To Road Station

LAVONIA, Ga., July 8.—An airplane dropped to a neat landing on a broad highway near here and taxied up to a roadside filling station.

"Fill her up," said the pilot to an astonished attendant. The employee complied with the order, but before he thought to ask the customer's name the nonchalant flyer had roared down the road and taken off again.

DAMAGES PONTONS LANDING IN ALASKA

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, July 8.—The inaugural flight of a Seattle-Juneau passenger, mail and express plane was marred here late today when the Alaskan Clipper, a twin-motored amphibian, damaged both pontoons badly as it landed here en route to Juneau.

Pilot King Beard said the amphibian would be anchored for an "indefinite" period until the pontoons were repaired.

Announcements

There is an Army of Mind that only sensitive women who suffer from superfluous hair can understand. They distrust advertisements which offer instantaneous cures, having found the relief merely temporary. They rarely speak of their disfigurement, but just bear it in silence. Sailors From the Girl Pat

Pictured as they arrived in Miami after a flight on a Pan-American plane from Georgetown, British Guiana, are two members of the crew of the Girl Pat, the British trawler that was chased all over the Seven Seas until run to earth off the British Guiana coast recently. The men, John McDonald-Harris (right) and Howard Stephen (left), are, conferring with an agent for an English syndicate who has bought publicity rights to the story of the runaways.

City and District

Vacation Period.—The city school board offices will be closed during the first two weeks in August to permit the staff to take its annual vacation.

Branch Picnic.—Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, annual picnic will be held from 2 to 6 o'clock at Wilks Beach on Saturday afternoon. Races will commence at 3:15 o'clock.

Must Get Licence.—Pleading guilty to operating in Luxton without a peddler's licence for the second half of the year, Lee Hen, Chinese, in provincial court yesterday was ordered to take out the licence and was assessed $2 court costs.

Picnic on Saturday.—The Victoria County Loyal Order Lodge picnic will be held at Beacon Hill Park, on Saturday, commencing at 10 o'clock. Tea, milk and sugar will be provided. All visiting brethren will be welcomed.

Has Charge of Parish.—During the absence of Rev. Alan Gardiner, who is on his vacation, Rev. A. E. Balfour Bruce will be in charge of St. Paul's Garrison Church, Esquimalt, and acting chaplain for the army and navy.

Safety Booklet.—First of a series of "safe driving" booklets, distributed by the American Automobile Club, has been received at the Victoria Automobile Club, where it may be seen by anyone desiring to study its contents.

Tour Directors.—Touring directors of the Shasta-Cascade-Wonderland Association, Miss Mildred Beeson and Miss Hannah Mamma, Redding, Cal., were taken on a tour of the city and R. P. Butcher's residence yesterday, by George I. Warren, Victoria publicity commissioner.

Fund Deficit.—On the request of Trustee Walter E. Stanfield, the school board last night decided to inquire into the pyramiding of interest payments on the deficit in the superannuation fund. This year the interest payment amounts to $845. There has been a steady increase during the past three years.

Rotary Programme.—R. V. Stuart, manager of the British Columbia Loggers' Association, will be the speaker-quest at the Rotary Club luncheon today at 12:10 p.m. in the Empress Hotel. He will speak on the subject "The Future Supply of Raw Materials for Our Forest Products."

Enjoying Visit.—After a trip through Alaska waters, Dr. J. T. Martin and his family, of Oklahoma City, Okla., are enjoying a short stay in Victoria. At the Dominion Hotel, last night, they enjoyed the beauty of the city and expressed a keen interest in the Parliament Buildings.

Fail to Appear.—For failing to appear in provincial court yesterday, to answer charges of not paying their poll tax, Joe and Lee, Chinese, will be served with bench warrants. Police advised Magistrate George Jay that they were endeavoring to serve a similar summons on another Chinese.

Street Lights Out.—Short circuiting in the light standards in sections of the business area of the city was responsible for street lights being out last night. It was reported by City Lighting Department. The trouble developed at 10 o'clock and sections were cut off until short circuits were cleared.

To Reconstitute Scheme.—Officials of the hot-house tomato and cucumber marketing board called on Hon. K. G. Macdonald yesterday, to apply for ratification of that scheme under the new Provincial regulations. Details in the scheme of early action by the Government to set up the board are fresh.

Will Appeal Cases.—An appeal, it is announced, will be taken by R. P. Reinbride against the sentences imposed upon P. J. H. Van Oudenal and J. M. Potter for the theft of money in connection with the flotation of a sawmill at Sooke. The accused was given three years in

Affair Is Organized By Nurses

Hidden behind the hedges and gay floral borders of the east gardens at St. Joseph's Hospital, a successful garden party was held yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the student nurses. As a result of the affair, a useful sum was raised toward the fund being raised to clear the expense of the installation, recently, in the academy grounds, of tennis courts for the nurses.

About 250 visitors patronized the affair, which was given a gay atmosphere by the playing of Rowles' Boys' Band at intervals during the afternoon.

There was a candy booth, in charge of Miss J. Phillips and Miss J. Daem, in the rose arbor; and tea was served at flower-decked tables scattered about the lawn, those in charge being Miss J. Scott, Miss L. Powell, Miss E. Robinson, Miss R. McCaig, Miss M. Dugal, Miss D. Rawson and Miss B. Slater.

At the gate were Miss E. Tevine, Miss V. Bastedo and Miss Ford. Among the numerous visitors were the Sister Superior of St. Joseph's and most of the nursing sisters; also several of the Cathedral parish priests, and a few of the doctors and their wives.

The tennis courts in the academy grounds, in behalf of which the garden party was held, have already been opened, and have been in play for some weeks.

Sorority Plan Garden Party

Delta Omega of Epsilon Sigma Alpha will set aside its literary pursuits on Saturday, when it has arranged a garden party at the home of Miss Louise Patterson, 878 Esquimalt Road.

The convener, Misses L. Patterson, M. Hemmingsen, D. Baxandall, B. Leigh and K. McIntyre, have prepared a programme of music and games.

There will be in addition an ice cream and candy stall, and tea will be served from 3:30 to 6:30 o'clock which includes fortune telling.

Part of Florida Was Once Island

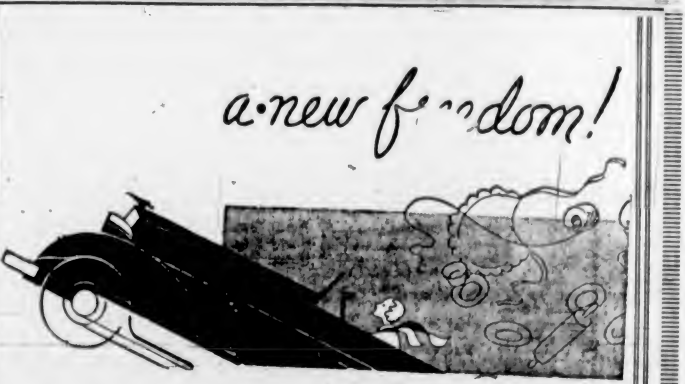

BOYNTON, Fla., July 8.—Discovery of a large fossil land shell in Palm Beach country, Florida, is considered by scientists partly to counteract the belief that Southern Florida once was submerged.

Dr. Carlos de la Torre reported the find at a recent meeting of the South Florida branch of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Heretofore only fossil sea shells have been taken from the South Florida beds and their abundance and wide distribution indicated the section was once under water, he pointed out.

Church Wedding of Young Couple Is Largely Attended

Miss Anne Allan Becomes Bride of Mr. Colin Francis Mouat in Wilkinson Road Church, of Which Her Father Is Pastor

ONE of the prettiest weddings of the season took place yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large congregation, in the Wilkinson Road United Church, when Rev. Thomas Keyworth officiated at the marriage of Anne Ogilvie, only daughter of Rev. William Allan and Mrs. Allan, of the Manse, Glyn Road, and Mr. Colin Francis Mouat, third son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert J. Mouat, of Ganges Harbor, Saltspring Island.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in a form-fitting gown of oyster silk net over white tulle, which tapered at the back to a short train. The full skirt had gaudies of frilled net caught at the knee-line with rosettes of satin and seed pearls, and the bodice, which had a cowl neck, was caught at the shoulders with pearl clasps, and long full sleeves terminating at the hand with pointed cuffs fastened with pearl buttons. A wide satin sash hung in graceful folds at the back and white lace gloves and white slippers completed her costume. Her veil of embroidered silk net was arranged beneath a Juliet cap, and was caught with sprays of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of pale pink butterfly roses, lilies of the valley and fern.

LOVELY GOWNS

Miss Muriel Hoy, as maid of honor, and Miss Jean Mouat, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, the elder attendants, were gowned alike in frocks of ruffled net over tulle, fashioned on long lines with vertical frills on the skirt, and also on the cape, which were tied with bows of net to match their gowns. The maid of honor wore pale pink and the bridesmaid was in pale blue, and both carried arm bouquets of African daisies, pale pink carnations and blue lace flowers, tied with pale pink and blue tulle.

The flower girls, Peggy Mouat, sister of the groom, and Yvonne Mouat, niece of the groom, were dressed alike in Kate Greenway frocks of primrose net over tulle, with satin sashes caught with rosettes and circlets of net and tiny rosebuds in the hair. They carried Colonial bouquets of pastel-shaded flowers.

Mr. Malcolm Mouat, brother of the groom, was best man, and Mr. William Allan, brother of the bride, was groomsmen.

Under the direction of Mrs. V. Rush, girl friends of the bride had decorated the church with a profusion of Summer flowers, tall white Madonna lilies, pink roses and ivy bouquets used on the double arch, at either side of which were baskets of daisies, the guest pews being marked with bows of white tulle.

The wedding marches were played by Mr. D. Phillips, and during the signing of the register, Mrs. Margaret Pringle accompanied Miss Elsie Pryatt, who sang "All Joy Be Thine." Messrs. Ivan Mouat, Jack Allan, and Vernon Drake acted as ushers.

LARGE RECEPTION

Following the ceremony a largely-attended reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride and groom, standing beneath an arch of magnificent roses, which were sent for the occasion by Mr. Richard Layritz, received the good wishes of their friends. Mrs. Allan, wearing an ankle-length blue de France gorgette dress with a lace collar, a grey straw hat and grey accessories, received the guests, assisted by Mrs. Mouat in a long grey spider web lace gown, grey straw hat and grey and white accessories.

Lovely Bride and Sister Fruit Trees Admired at Garden Fete

Mrs. A. G. Stirling, nee Little, and her sister, Miss Molly Little, who was bridesmaid at her wedding on Tuesday afternoon. They were photographed following the ceremony at St. Mary's Church. Mr. and Mrs. Stirling will reside in Premier, B.C.

Corsage bouquets of Ophelia roses and lily of the valley completed their costumes.

BUFFET SUPPER

The refreshment table, which was spread with a lace and linen banquet cloth, was centered by a three-tier wedding cake, set in folds of pink tulle and flanked with tall tapers in silver scabbards, and vases filled with rosebuds. Assisting in serving the buffet supper were the Misses Helen Keyworth, Mrs. Allan, Muriel Rudd, Jean Krimpton, Elsie Pryatt, Peggy Smith and Helen Ritz. Rev. T. Keyworth proposed the toast to the bride and groom, and during the afternoon Mrs. L. G. Mouat sang "Until" and Mrs. V. Rush sang "Loving Echo."

Accompanied at the piano by Miss Margaret Pringle.

Mr. and Mrs. Mouat left at midnight for Vancouver, from where they will motor to California where the honeymoon will be spent, and on their return will make their home at Ganges, Saltspring Island. For traveling, the bride chose a sand-colored tailored tweed suit with a silk blouse, brown leather hat with veil, and brown accessories, and a corsage of roses and lily of the valley.

SPECIAL GIFTS

Among the many beautiful gifts were a walnut table and reading lamp from the members of the Garden City United Church, a silver rose bowl from the choir, a hand-painted framed picture from the W.A., and an electric sandwich toaster from the members of the Wilketts Club and Onwago Y.P.S. of Wilkinson Road United Church. A mantle chime clock from the associates of the groom on the staff of Mount Bros. Ltd., of Ganges, a handsome club bag from the adult Bible class of the Ganges United Church, and a fountain pen from the Junior Trail Ranger Group.

New Branch Of Legion Is Formed

Victoria Overseas Nursing Sisters' Branch of the Canadian Legion came into being yesterday afternoon, when thirty-one nurses who served during the European war were presented with a charter at Britannia Branch by Joseph Wittcomb, a member of the Legion Provincial executive.

In officially declaring the organization a part of the Canadian Legion, Mr. Wittcomb assured nurses of the support that the Provincial Command and referred to the debt the army owed them during the war. Those at the meeting were formerly united under the name of Overseas Nursing Sisters' Club with Miss Jean Kay, president, and Miss Agnes Forbes, secretary-treasurer. The two officers will serve in the same capacities in the newly named branch of the Legion. Miss Forbes gave a report on the biennial Overseas Nursing Sisters' Club convention at Vancouver. Future meetings of the nursing sisters will be held in Britannia Branch.

Fruit Trees Admired at Garden Fete

Luscious red cherries tempted the many guests attending the garden party yesterday at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Snape, 1140 Tattersall Drive. The party was arranged in aid of the funds of the Church of Our Lord, Free Church of England, the Ladies' Aid being in charge. Well over $100 was taken in during the day.

The garden is shaded by twenty-eight cherry trees which yesterday were laden with fruit of which the guests were invited to partake. Tea tables were set out beneath the trees and each stall was sheltered by a tree.

Mr. and Mrs. Snape mingled with the guests and with Mrs. F. M. Shandley, president of the Ladies' Aid, welcomed them to the garden, which is bordered by an orchard. Rev. A. deB. Owen, rector of the church, opened the fete at 3 o'clock, and remained throughout the afternoon, chatting with the guests.

MUCH ENTERTAINMENT

Many children attended the fete and they had a delightful time playing on the swing hung from a large cherry tree, and were fascinated by Miss Muriel Creech in the role of the "Lady of a Thousand Pockets." Aunt Sally, in charge of Miss A. A. Chambers, attracted both the men and the women, as also did the clock golf, run by Mr. Cowper Newbury; the money bucket, the racing fish, in charge of Miss Hester Duke, and the hidden money, supervised by Captain E. G. Snape. Mr. Frank Merryfield delighted everyone with his intriguing tricks of magic and was most popular with the children.

Tea was served at individual tables by Mrs. P. Shandley, assisted by Mrs. H. E. Bayley, Mrs. H. Shandley, Mrs. Cowper Newbury, Misses Mabel Hawthorne, M. Law, J. Cromack, O. Taylor, Helen Stevens, Aimee O. Heddie, Jean Appleby, Legallais, Mary Newman, P. Turner and Jessie Knowles.

Ice cream was sold by Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Martin, and candy by the Misses Murray. Flowers and cherries were a great number of applications, nine having been received since the last meeting, which have been placed on file as the home at present is completely filled.

Mrs. W. L. Clay, the president, conducted the meeting. All accounts rendered were ordered paid. The committee for the month includes Mrs. E. Heddie, Mrs. G. A. Lister and Mrs. Harold Grant. The matron reported that members of the staff were now taking their holidays, and she was busy putting up fruit for the winter months.

Beautiful "Schuhuum" Setting for Garden Fete

Victoria Women's Conservative Association Sponsors Successful Affair, Including Gypsy Carnival, at Home of Miss Agnew

The charming garden surroundings of "Schuhuum," Miss Agnew's Rockland Avenue home graciously lent for the occasion, formed an ideal background for the gypsy carnival, which was the feature of the outdoor fete sponsored by the Victoria Women's Conservative Association yesterday afternoon.

Formally opened by Mrs. Robert A. Wootton, wife of the president of the Victoria Conservative Association, the affair was a gratifying success, gaining generous support from the general public as well as the members of the two organizations most directly connected therewith. Introduced by Mrs. Robert D. Harvey, general convenor of the fete, Mrs. Wootton thanked Mrs. Dobree for arranging the colorful entertainment; Miss Agnew for lending her beautiful grounds, and the many helpers and patrons.

A message of greeting and good wishes from Mr. Hon. R. B. Bennett, read by Miss Agnew, brought a fresh note of interest into the proceedings, although it brought the Conservative leader's regret that he was unable, owing to a previous engagement in Calgary, to accept the invitation to be present. This part of the programme concluded when little Margaret Bowden, on behalf of the Conservative Association ladies, presented Mrs. Wootton and Miss Agnew with artistic Colonial bouquets made by Miss Alice Pooley.

GYPSY SCENES

The gypsy carnival, staged on the tennis lawn, was most picturesque, the brilliant costumes, beribboned tambourines, and animated figures of the dancers and singers making a gay scene.

Directed by Mme. Dobree (who herself played the piano), orchestra, chorus and soloists gave some beautiful numbers, many being from well-known operas, and others being familiar fragments of Spanish, Italian, German, or old French and English airs. Some very pleasing individual voices were heard in the troupe.

THE PROGRAMME

Following was the programme in its entirety:

Opening chorus, "Moments Musical" (Schubert); song and dance, "Romantic" (Thelma Kadenas); song, "The Linnets" (Muriel Jordan); lambourine dance, "Tarentelle," by pupils of Dorothy Cox; song, "Gypsy Sweetheart" (Alexis Sutcliffe); solo, "Song of the Robin" (Mrs. Gauger); solo with chorus, "The Bandolero" (J. W. Buckler); song, "The Zingara" (Mrs. J. Laming); chorus, "Sing, Pretty Maiden," by gypsies; solos, "Romance" and "The Harp on the Air" (from "Marta"); Miss Isabel Crawford; dance, "Spanish Waltz," by pupils of Miss Florence Clough; chorus, "Pretty Girl" (from "Marta"); with concerted numbers and solos; solo, "Crazy Trail" (Galloway); George Farmer; solo, "Il Bacio"; Mrs. Laming; solo and chorus, "Play, Fiddle, Play" (from "Il Trovatore"); Mrs. Badger, "Anvil Chorus" (from "Il Trovatore"); chorus, "Forest Fire" (Brahms), and Hungarian dance.

OTHER DETAILS

There were numerous other diversions for the guests: Bridge, convened by Mrs. R. A. Wootton and Mrs. Sidney R. Bowden, was played at tables arranged in the library and dining-room; Miss. Mobius gave phonological readings, which were a popular attraction; on the west lawn was a gay little candy stall, decked with blue and white, in charge of Mrs. Burton, Mrs. J. E. Branson and Mrs. J. B. Thomson; and just at the entrance to the house a water-color painting presented by Mrs. Lismore, as prize in a contest, was displayed.

Everyone patronized afternoon tea, which was served in the welcome shade of the oaks in the sunken garden. This was a most capably managed detail, in charge of Mrs. C. H. Smith, Mrs. Herbert Anson, Mrs. Hugh Allan, Mrs. T. Hammett, Mrs. K. Brown and Mrs. W. Higgins, with a staff of assistants. At the entrance to the same part of the grounds was the ice cream stall, in charge of Mrs. A. Chamberlin.

Those in charge of the gate money were Mrs. G. W. Edgar and Mrs. W. G. M. Rolston.

The picture was won by Mrs. B. Ripley, and a doll, offered in another contest, was won by Mrs. V. Nelson.

The winners of the contract bridge were as follows: First, Mrs. Joe Gorman; second, Mrs. J. L. Ford and consolation, Mrs. A. V. Wollaston.

Social and Personal

Party for Miss Foster

Miss Gertrude Foster, a popular bride-to-be, was the guest of honor recently, when members of the Stikberry Vale Institute and the Colquhoun Knitting Club entertained in the Institute Hall. Many useful and beautiful gifts were presented in a decorated laundry basket, and the color scheme of mauve and purple was also carried out in the decorations of the room and refreshment table. Refreshments were served on small tables, which were decorated with vases of rosebuds and mauve and white Canterbury bells and sweet peas comprised the floral centre on a long table, where the gifts were displayed. On behalf of the institute, Mrs. Austin presented Miss Foster with an electric clock, in appreciation of the help which she has always so willingly given to the institute, and on behalf of the Knitting Club, Mrs. Walling presented a set of stainless knives. The invited guests included Mrs. Walter Foster, Mrs. P. Cummins, Mrs. E. Ewell, Mrs. C. Knowles, Mrs. T. Raper, Mrs. G. Austin, Mrs. J. Humphries, Mrs. C. Martin, Mrs. K. Foster, Mrs. G. Watling, Mrs. J. Hoy, Mrs. E. Cummins, Mrs. N. Mude, Mrs. L. Burrow, Mrs. J. Harper, Mrs. F. Gorton, Mrs. E. Crooks, Mrs. Kenyon, Mrs. E. I. Fulton, L. Petker, J. Statham, M. Morford, H. Barr, N. Barr, M. Murray, L. Rowland and D. Fulton.

Birthday Party

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hollins were hosts on Monday evening at a party held in their home on St. Patrick Street, the occasion being the twenty-first birthday of their daughter, Miss Beatrice Hollins. Games were played during the evening and a supper was served. "On Wings of Song" was sung by Miss Edna Burgess. Prizes for court whist were won by Miss Mary Sinclair and Miss Nancy Hepburn. Mrs. James Hepburn and Mr. Gerald Chaston. Refreshments were served from a prettily-appointed table centred by a bowl of pink and yellow roses. In addition to members of the family, the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hollins, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. L. Foxgord, Misses Iris Gaskill, Lucy Shaw, Mary Sinclair, Edna Burgess, Ethel Bray, Alice Ruffell, Nancy Hepburn, Kaye Foxgord, Erma Falls, Messrs. Chris Muller, Beryl Henry, James Hepburn, Gerald Smith, David Stott, Tom Farmer and Gerald Chaston.

Surprise Party

To wish bon voyage to Mrs. E. M. Shribbs, of London, Ont., who has been visiting in Victoria for the past five weeks with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Dodd, a surprise party was held in her honor at the home of Mrs. William Blair, 1364 Hillside Avenue, on Monday. The evening was spent playing bridge, and the prize winners were: First, Mrs. M. Shribbs. Supper was served at a prettily-arranged table centred with a low bowl of crimson roses and lighted with candelabra. During supper the guest of honor was presented with a farewell gift, with the good wishes of the following: Mrs. Arthur Dodd, Mrs. Edward Stewart, Mrs. Albert Hockley, Mrs. Hugh Paul, Mrs. Robert Patterson, Mrs. Gerald Lane, Mrs. Warren Smith, Mrs. W. R. Elford and Mrs. William Blair. Mrs. Shribbs left for Ontario on Tuesday afternoon and will visit relatives in Toronto, St. Thomas, and later in Detroit.

Revelers' Dance

About 200 Revelers and their friends travelled to Cordova Bay last night for the club's fanned dance, which took place in McMorran's Pavilion, the hall being gay with Japanese lanterns. A delightful evening was spent dancing to the music of an entertaining orchestra and many melodies lent an informal atmosphere to the party. Moonlight waltzes and cut-ins were features of the evening. Supper was served later. Mr. Charles MacNeill, Mr. Stanley Hearn and Mr. David Hunter composed the committee in charge of the evening.

Tea Hostesses

In a flower-decked alcove in the lounge at the Empress Hotel, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Frank Tyrrell, Mrs. Howard Tyrrell and Miss Beattie Seal were hostesses at a tea party in honor of Mrs. J. C. Devine, of Hong Kong, formerly Miss Marian Tyrrell, of Victoria. The other guests were Mrs. A. Tyrrell, Mrs. N. Tyrrell, Mrs. E. Housley, Mrs. G. Stephens, Mrs. H. W. Widdows, Mrs. P. Forrester, Mrs. P. Aldridge, Mrs. E. E. Forrester, Mrs. P. Boughton, Mrs. Anne Warburton, M. Thompson, Ellen Burke and Alma Hoare.

Returning to Interior

Mrs. D. C. Paterson, Kelowna, who spent a few days in Victoria with her mother, Mrs. H. J. A. Davidson, is returning to her home for the Mainland, en route by passenger ship. Mrs. Davidson, who will spend some time at her guest Mrs. O. Wilmer's, who is at Kelowna, who motored to the Coast with Mrs. Paterson, stayed in Vancouver with friends and is accompanying her home.

Visited Her Aunt

Miss M. McLeod, R.N. left yesterday for California after a month's visit with her aunt, Mrs. Douglas, who is at the home of Mrs. McGillicuddy, of Cook Street.

Here From South

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Thomson, Santa Barbara, motored from the South, accompanied by their sons, Messrs. George, Edward and Arthur Thomson, and are spending ten days' holiday in Victoria with Mrs. Thomson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Torrance, Blackwood Street. En route home they will spend a few days visiting in Seattle.

Lending Garden

Mrs. J. W. Benning, 1337 Rockland Avenue, is lending her home to the Victoria Branch of the League of Nations Society, for a garden party to be held on Wednesday, July 22. A committee is busy working on the details, and is planning an interesting programme.

End Holiday Here

Mrs. John Tonkin, her daughter, Mrs. Clarke, and three grandchildren, Patsy, John and Nancy Clarke, are leaving this week for California en route for their home in Salt Lake City, after several weeks' holiday at their summer home, East Saanich.

Motoring South

Dr. and Mrs. C. N. Westwood and their son, Bill, left yesterday afternoon for the Mainland, from where they will motor south, where Dr. Westwood will attend the American Dental Convention being held at San Francisco.

Visiting in City

Mr. and Mrs. Gower Rideout, of Olympia, Washington, have arrived in Victoria for a holiday and will spend a week with Mr. Rideout's mother, Mrs. James Rideout, Linden Avenue.

Fortune tellers will also be in attendance for all who wish to "peep into the future."

Wedding in Afternoon

Attracts Large Gathering

In a beautiful setting of Madonna lilies in tall baskets, St. Albans Church was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday afternoon—at 3:30 o'clock, when Ellen Kathleen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kennedy, 3280 Cook Street, became the bride of Mr. Clarence Edward Logan, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Logan, 1941 View Street, in the presence of a large number of friends of the popular young couple. Sweet peas, tied with white ribbon, marked the guest pews.

Rev. F. W. Weaver conducted the service, and Mrs. David Swan played the wedding marches and accompanied the congregation, who sang "The hymns," "May the Grace of Christ Our Saviour" and "O Perfect Love," as the register was being signed.

The bride was given away by her father and wore a floor-length frock of white silk net, ruffled below the waist, and fashioned with a high neck and short ruffled sleeves. Her small white turban was trimmed with a cluster of sweet peas and orange blossoms and a short veil and she also wore white silk hand-knitted gloves and carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations, pink Columbia roses and anemones.

Couple to Reside at Vancouver

A quiet wedding took place on Saturday, at noon, when Very Rev. C. S. Quinlan, Dean of Columbia at Christ Church Cathedral, united in marriage Miss Jeanette Margaret, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Newell, 840 Craigflower Road, and Mr. Norman J. Darcy, eldest son of the late Rev. Leonard J. Darcy, of Vancouver, and the late Mrs. Darcy, of Moss Street, Victoria.

Very lovely, in her bridal gown of ivory satin, princess style, en train, with cool-fashioned neck and long light-fitting sleeves, worn with veil and coronet of gardenias, the bride carried an old-fashioned bouquet of gardenias, white carnations and maidenhair fern.

Due to the unavoidable absence of her father through illness, she was given in marriage by Mr. John Moxam. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Jeffrey Darcy.

Later, at the bride's home, beautifully decorated with roses and other summer flowers, under the direction of Miss Margaret Moxam, the bride and groom received good wishes for their future happiness at a brief informal reception, during which refreshments were served by Misses E. Darcy, M. Henson, M. Beebe and M. Moxam.

Mr. and Mrs. Darcy sailed by the afternoon steamer for Vancouver, where they will reside.

Dancing Is Featured at Garden Fete

The garden party at the home of Mrs. Charles Fitzgerald, on Glandford Avenue, was opened yesterday by Bishop J. H. MacDonald at 2:15 o'clock, the affair being held under the auspices of the Altar Society of the Sacred Heart Church, the gratifying sum of $120.65 being realized.

Rev. Father Albury introduced the Bishop who, upon arrival, was met by Piper MacFarlane, who piped him through the grounds, decorated with paper flags and Union Jacks, to the wood at the back of the grounds, where the guests had assembled.

Mrs. Fitzgerald was the convener and a day of much enjoyment was spent and an entertaining programme given. Mrs. W. A. James sang and Lillian Grant and her troupe of four little girls entertained with Highland dances. Mrs. Wright delighted the guests with songs and arranged a dainty handkerchief dance given by four little girls. An exhibition tap dance was given by Miss Pay, a visitor from Calgary, and dances were given by Frances and Cleo Daniels.

At 6:30 p.m. a dancing competition was held, when eight-hand reels were danced by several groups. Other amusements arranged for the pleasure of the guests were horse-shoe, pitching and coconut shells. At the close of the programme, Bishop MacDonald thanked the artists for the enjoyable entertainment.

Archery Will Be Feature of Fete

A garden party by First St. Paul's Scout and Cubs will be held at the St. Paul's Scout Hall on Saturday, Engineer-Commander Stevens will open the party at 3 p.m.

There will be stalls of home cooking, novelties and candy and afternoon tea will be served. Archery is among the entertainments arranged for the guests, and the ever popular house house will be in progress. Also coconut shells will be arranged for the pleasure of the guests, and there will be a contest.

UNABLE TO FIND OLD LANDMARKS

Chicago Proofreader Goes Back to Ottawa, But Finds No Landmarks Visible

OTTAWA, July 8.—John K. L. Chicago proofreader, came to this capital the other day for the first time in half a century and searched for a landmark he could recognize. He said he found none. Keatings, one-time employee of the Ottawa Citizen's mechanical department, said the city was entirely new to him. The old proofreader had vivid recollections of Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the other greats of the day. He recalled particularly a conversation between Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir John L. Ink, which he believed he was the king of Canada.

As Sir John drove along a street one day, Ink shouted at him "Hall, Sir John. I am your king and you are my premier." Sir John asked him what project was closest to his heart. Ink said he had always wished to see the Parliament Buildings demolished and the stone used to build a bridge across the Ottawa River to a point in Hull, near his home. "I will give it my serious consideration," Sir John replied.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

HEAT STROKE AND ITS PREVENTION

In sunstroke the individual has been out in the direct rays of the sun and the skin is hot, flushed and dry. It is not hard to tell what has happened. In heat stroke, however, there is no sun to be blamed, and yet the individual is suffering from heat just the same, because the body is unable to throw off the heat that it has itself manufactured. This of course is due to the fact that as the body gets rid of heat by sending the blood to the skin to go off as heat, very little heat can get away from the skin because the surrounding air is itself very hot and very moist.

To prevent heat stroke, some means of ventilating or causing a draft, such as the use of an electric fan, or opening doors and windows to enable the air to move and this change of air allows the skin to "breathe" out heat and moisture from the body. Research workers have found that factory workers drink a great amount of water, and as the heat makes them perspire freely a great amount of salt is lost from the body because of the salt going out in the perspiration from the skin.

As salt holds seventy times its own weight of water in the body you can see that if much salt be lost in the perspiration there will not be enough water left in the tissues to enable them to work properly. The body is "dehydrated" as it is called, causing the symptoms of heat stroke.

In some foundries and factories tablets containing 15 grains—a quarter teaspoonful—of common table salt are placed beside the drinking fountains and the men are encouraged to take a tablet of salt every time they take a drink of water. Ventilating the room and taking salt with every drink of water is considered the most effective means of preventing heat stroke.

American Mail Line Ship In With Big Passenger List

Bringing in a large list of passengers, considerable mail and some hundred tons of general cargo, the American Mail Line S.S. President Grant, Captain H. B. Clark, U.S.N.R., commander, arrived alongside Rutherford Pier at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, inbound from the Philippine Islands by way of China and Japan ports. Officers of the ship reported an uneventful crossing of the North Pacific. She was united to Seattle shortly after 10 o'clock.

Travelers for Victoria included Mr. and Mrs. A. Tyrrell, who were returning home after attending the marriage of their daughter at Yokohama; Mrs. H. Dabstein, from Shanghai, en route to Europe; Captain M. McLean, Engineer, George Kirk and George Storey and Seaman James McKay, members of the crew of the S.S. City of Vancouver, which they delivered at Japan to Japanese interests; and Mrs. N. Cox, returning from a visit to her husband in Siam.

Prominent passengers going through to Seattle included Mrs. Julian Arnold, wife of the American Commercial Attache at Shanghai, en route to California on a holiday; Miss R. Bachman, connected with Weiskopf & Goldberg, importers of furs, New York, returning from a business trip to China; Salomon Benvenuto, importer from Mexico City, returning from a business visit to the Orient; K. B. Bowerman, president of the Bowerman Pharmacy Company, San Francisco, on his way home following a pleasure trip to the Orient, accompanied by his wife and daughter.

ALSO ABOARD

Also aboard were Abraham Campo on his way from Manila to enter the Naval Academy of Annapolis; S. P. Chaffin, of the American Machine and Foundry Company, New York, returning from a business visit to Japan; Sydney M. Cooper, exporter of London; R. A. Henningsen, of the Henningsen Produce Company, Shanghai, on leave; H. L. Hocker, with the Olympic Portland Products Company, Kobe; H. Jacobs, president of the Continental Merchandise Company, New York, returning home from Japan; F. O. Kirchoff, civil engineer of Honolulu; Mike C. J. Lin, test pilot connected with the National Government of China, going to Buffalo; H. MacIntosh, passenger agent of American Mail Line, Manila, on leave; and Mrs. J. McMahon, of Bellingham, returning from a pleasure cruise.

Lieutenant-Commander K. W. Palmer, U.S.N., was returning home.

NEW SERVICE INAUGURATED

Alaska Clipper Left Seattle Yesterday on Initial Trip Northbound

SEATTLE, July 8 (P.)—The Alaska Clipper, a twin-motored amphibian, inaugurating a Seattle-Juneau passenger, mail and express service, took off for the North today from Boeing Field at 8:30 a.m.

Four passengers and mail and express were aboard, with the plane piloted by King Baird and Co-Pilot Ed Mooney.

The passengers were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent I. Kraft, Mrs. J. S. Caldwell and Mrs. Baird, all of Seattle.

The first stop was planned at Vancouver, at 10 a.m., at which four more passengers will be taken aboard.

The arrival at Ketchikan was set for 3:30 p.m. and at Juneau at 5:30 p.m., after a flight up the British Columbia "inside passage."

A return flight will be made South on Friday, J. S. Caldwell, traffic manager of Air Express, Inc., organizers of the line, announced.

VANCOUVER, July 8 (P.)—The Alaska Clipper, a twin-motored amphibian plane inaugurating a Seattle-Juneau passenger, mail and express service, arrived here at 9:55 a.m. and took off fifty minutes later for Ketchikan, Alaska.

The plane is expected to arrive at Ketchikan at 3:30 p.m. and at Juneau two hours later. It left Seattle at 8:30 a.m.

A return flight to Seattle will be made on Friday.

CANNING FACTORY ON BRISTOL BAY BURNED; MILLION-DOLLAR LOSS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8 (P.)—The Union Fish Company's canning plant, a million-dollar fish-canning factory had burned and was virtually a total loss.

The plant was at the mouth of the Kichak River, Bristol Bay, Alaska.

YACHT LOISEAU BLANC ASHORE ON ANTICOSTI

HALIFAX, July 8 (P.)—The yacht Loiseau Blanc ran aground five miles off West Point, Anticosti, early today and was refloated two hours later according to a report received from the East Coast Radio Signal Service.

The motor-schooner Juliet, which stood by the grounded yacht, is taking her to Ellis Bay for repairs. Damage was believed not serious.

Montreal and Baltimore Temples Are En Route To Seattle

WINNIPEG, July 8 (P.)—En route to Seattle, where they will attend the annual Imperial Shrine Council, four special sleepers with more than fifty bunks were attached to Canadian National train No. 1, from Winnipeg, this morning. Half the party were members of Karnak Temple of Montreal, while the other half are from Mount Temple, British Columbia.

The distinguished visitors were met at the depot here this morning by the nobles of Kharium Temple, and many were taken for a short drive around the city. The Karnak party is in charge of Potentate William B. Stetson and Recorder J. Harry Spence, while the Mount Temple party is in charge of J. Purdon.

Coast Service Is Featuring All-Day Excursion

THE all-day excursion, which the B.C. Coast Service of Canadian Pacific Steamships is offering its patrons tomorrow, should be well patronized, for besides providing a delightful outing it will give Victorians an opportunity of seeing something of Vancouver's golden jubilee celebrations, which began in the Terminal City on July 1, and will continue well into September.

For the accommodation of the excursionists taking advantage of this opportunity, the company will utilize the S.S. Princess Alice. She will leave the Belleville Street docks at 8:30 tomorrow morning, arriving at Vancouver at 1:15 o'clock in the afternoon, and leaving the Mainland port at 6 p.m. Music will be supplied for dancing and entertainment aboard the Alice.

MIDNIGHT AND PERCY JONES

by VINCENT STARRETT

CHAPTER I
Parties, it occurred to Blackwood, not for the first time, were principally stupid. Not vicious. Not immoral. Just stupid. And he himself was a stupid oaf to lend himself to any such performances. Because his name appeared over a column of stage gossip every morning, because he reviewed bad plays in season, he was supposed to be a celebrity. If this was the reward of fame—lying around in dinner clothes, drinking cocktails, making risqué remarks to ultra sophisticated young women, kowtowing to dowagers who were quite obviously dead but not yet buried, watching a lot of sapsheads thump and bump one another in a room too small for dancing—why, then, to the devil with fame! He could do without it.

He said as much to Mrs. Hume, his hostess, without quite reproducing the actual words that ran in his cynical mind.

"Aren't you the polite thing?" she approached him. But she was not really annoyed. The lovely widow was not precisely a fool, and there were times when she wondered about that sort of thing herself.

"Not you, of course," said Blackwood truthfully and a bit irrelevantly. "Nor me," he grinned. "Just the others, eh? The living dead—duplicates? I think they're called in Halli. They don't know they're dead, of course. That's the trouble. They don't know anything."

The room was foggy with the thin smoke of cigarettes and noisy strain of somebody's famous orchestra.

"You are in a pleasant frame of mind, aren't you?" she said. "What's wrong, Riley, my love? Has somebody failed to understand you?" She added, "Percy Jones will be here at midnight, then things will wake up."

"Midnight and Percy Jones," smiled Riley Blackwood. "They are practically synonymous. It's a sort of stage direction—Eh? Percy on the last stroke of the hour. All over the city parties await his coming. Nothing really begins until midnight any more. And all because Percy's broadcast duties cease at eleven-thirty. 'By Jove,' said Mr. Blackwood reverently, "there is fame for you."

"You're—jealous, darling," said Mrs. Hume. She glanced at her jeweled wrist watch. "In point of fact it is eleven-thirty now. We must get him on the radio. Everybody will expect it."

"Including Percy," agreed Riley Blackwood, stretching his long legs. "All right, Janice, I'll make myself useful." He rose from the brocade love-seat in the alcove, on which they had been sitting and strode out among the easels, threading his way toward the expensive instrument that occupied a corner of the larger room.

The radio was blaring "Little Lump of Love, Good-Night," and the dancers, in close embrace, were whispering the words into each other's ears. A chair was vacant immediately beside the instrument and Blackwood dropped into it. He seized the button of the dial and gave it a savage twist.

The strains of the dance melody vanished and a succession of raucous sounds filled the chamber.

"...twice a day," said the radio, "in the morning and just before you go to bed."

The nearest dancers turned reproachful eyes upon him. Again he twisted the miraculous button and brought forth, in turn, a conversation in what was supposed to be German dialect, the closing whisper of a tenor siren song and a crash of artillery, which in a moment resolved itself into a barn dance with a single screeching fiddle and a strident announcer.

"On for the love of Mike, Riley!" protested a masculine voice near the window. The other dancers waited for him to be done with his horsplay. They waited coldly with bitter antipathy and advice.

"Next week, 'East Lynne,'" said Blackwood informatively, and continued his colloquies with the dial. On the whole, he rather hoped he was annoying everybody.

"Oh, he's trying to get Percy Jones," cried Daisy Archer. "Hurry, Mr. Blackwood, or he'll be off the air."

"Patience," said Mr. Blackwood. He settled the indicator on the proper figure and rose upright. "My friends," he bowed, "I have the honor to present to you 'the world's greatest living radio announcer,' in his incredible impersonation of himself. The next you hear will be that of Percy Jones. Don't push, girls."

The dancers were finding seats with noisy alacrity. Then a hush fell suddenly upon the room, in which already a suave and patronizing voice was beginning to inaudibly itself.

going shortly. Well, here's a story to you!"

The disposed of the stolen liquids.

"And now I must say good night to our hostess."

Crossing the room, however,

"This is Percy Jones," said Percy Jones Exhaustively. "How Do You Do, Ladies and Gentlemen? I Bring You Music and Happiness." The Words Were the Opening Sentences of His Most Popular Programme.

whatever held they may have labored. Ladies and gentlemen, we have reached the end of another week, the forty-second week of this series of broadcasts by local artists. Tomorrow being Sunday we shall take our customary night off, to return to you again on Monday evening at the usual hour. Until then, au revoir and happiness to you all. Your announcer is Percy Jones. This is WKKK Air Theatre. Tip Top Building, Chicago.

Another voice attempted to make itself heard, but Blackwood neatly nipped it in the bud.

"In half an hour," he observed, "the party will officially begin. Radio, Miss Archer is a wonderful thing. I hold a theory that sounds never lost. I mean, it goes on plinking up somewhere, a corner of space, as water runs into a depression and collects there. Imagine it! If we were to find it and—er—kick it around a bit—what do you suppose we'd hear?"

"Tell me," said Daisy Archer.

"Chaos," said Riley Blackwood solemnly. "Fragments of Lust and Obsession, amazing offers from the wraiths and demons of the underworld, and Percy Jones whispering 'au revoir and happiness' across the interstellar spaces."

"What an imagination!" said Miss Archer.

"What a symphony!" said Riley Blackwood.

"She doesn't have a beautiful voice, do you think? Quite perfect?"

"Quiet! I'm afraid that's my objection to it. It's hardly human."

"It's divine," said Miss Archer.

"That, of course, is what I meant," said Blackwood. He wrapped a long arm around her, as again the radio burst into robust melody. Zaida Lansing, tired of standing, had leaned across them and produced the miracle. "Well, here we go again!"

The shuffle of feet was resumed and they swung away in the congestion of dancers. There were other things that Blackwood would rather have been doing, but he was clever enough at dancing when he had nothing more important on his mind.

Then the minutes began to run and, almost suddenly, it was midnight. An unpleasant-sounding, quite unlike the mellifluous utterance of Percy Jones, was announcing the advent of another day. It seemed more than probable that this new day was being brought to the world with the compliments of a famous watch company.

Blackwood deposited his partner in a chair and went in search of refreshments. He was tired of the thin mouth wash in the public punch bowl; but in the butler's pantry he found a bottle of fair Bourbon and in the refrigerator a bottle of ginger ale, which he seized without scruple. No servants were about they had been sent to bed, he supposed. He returned to Daisy Archer and cheered her with the spoils of his expedition.

"No sign of Percy, eh?" he commented. "The beggars law, Balchewer up child, he never misses. No more dancing, if you please! I'm diagonal scratch lay across the paragon's right cheekbone, beginning just below the eye. It was beaded with tiny particles of dried blood. Percy Jones dabbed it with a white handkerchief and grinned a crooked grin.

"Sorry, Janice," he apologized. "I didn't mean to be so late. I've had a most delightful adventure. Ah, there, Riley! Not leaving, I hope? Well, I'm here at last. I wondered for a time whether I was going to make it."

He tossed his light overcoat across the back of a chair and stood a gorgeous stick beside it in the entry.

"Quite charming, really. Talk about the 'Arabian Nights'! The scratch is nothing; a kitten gave it to me."

"Did she want your name in her cute little autograph book?" Miss Archer's suggestion was sweetly aggravating.

"No?"

"The kitten?"

"My face was scratched by a blue Persian kitten," said Percy Jones.

"I gather that I am not believed," he smiled, and flung out his hands in humorous resignation. "Ah, well! That, I suppose, is the reward of virtue. When one is really good, the worst is always suspected." He followed her to the far end of the room, where the sideboard sparkled, and came back with a glass of Janice's weak punch. "Well, here's to crime!"

"You certainly get away with it," said Archie Dunning. It was the tribute of an appreciative fellow male.

His hostess was bearing down upon them, the last comer with a pair of giggling debutantes who were there to meet the celebrities. Her face was beaming.

"Oh, don't worry about an alibi, Percy," she admonished. "We're all glad to see you, anyway. I want to present Miss Borland and Miss Smale—two of your warmest admirers. Mr. Percy Jones!"

Mr. Jones was charmed and delighted. "Miss Smale believes me, anyway," he murmured. "I can see it in her eyes."

"And Mrs. Samlow," said Janice Hume.

She dragged forward a smirking matron of middle age who no doubt had once been attractive, and who obviously still thought herself a flapper. Her other name was Thelma. Mrs. Samlow was overwhelmed. "I've been dying to meet you, Mr. Jones," she gasped, "ever since Janice told me that she knew you."

Her eyes moved with a tilly roll that suggested the lyrical quality of nature. They sparkled and coquetted. She was, however, perfectly sober. Ecstasy was simply a habit of speech and conduct.

"Dying," she added passionately, "to meet the voice that has charmed and thrilled a continent!"

"Not to mention a number of peninsulas and islands," said Riley Blackwood, still preparing to depart. "If you aren't lying about that kitten, Percy," he continued, "I would advise you to swab that cut with iodine."

For an instant the announcer of programmes looked vaguely alarmed. "Tetanus?" he questioned. "I thought of that. Imagine a radio announcer with lockjaw!" The mellifluous voice was filled with comic horror.

The circle around his person was growing; he smiled his appreciation of the attention. "It was really very amusing, all of it. Don't go, Blackwood! I'd like you to hear this. You'll love it. I was virtually kidnapped from the microphone. And by a red-head at that! I'm not partial to redheads, you know. That is, I adore them—but they terrify me."

He grinned his little crooked grin at Zaida Lansing, who was darkly red and called herself a Titan.

"On my honor, I hadn't a chance to escape her. She was right behind me when I left the mike. One of the audience, I suppose, they don't usually let them get that close. She asked me if she could me a lift."

"Good-looking, of course!" The suggestion came in the high-pitched, screaming voice of Tommy Lester.

"If anybody thinks she wasn't, he's crazy," said Percy Jones with conviction. He shrugged complacently. "What could I say? What would you have said, Blackwood?"

"She wouldn't have asked me," said Riley Blackwood. He lighted a cigarette and slumped into a chair. With the usual spectacles of his profession, he looked astonishingly like the talented and saturnine Mr. Aldous Huxley.

among the chattering groups of interrupted dancers, he encountered Constantine the novelist, wandering lonely as a cloud. He rather liked Constantine, and for a moment he felt sorry for him. In the end he was sidetracked for twenty minutes. Then Archie Dunning, a nuisance, got him for ten more. It was in consequence, precisely eighteen minutes of the hour when he reached the side of Janice Hume and announced his impending departure.

"Sorry, it's been so tame," she smiled. "Not even a good murder! I thought of arranging one for you—knowing your fondness for such things. I'm slightly bored myself, but unfortunately I can't leave. Her attractive eyebrows met in a frown. "What do you suppose is keeping Percy?"

Blackwood was not interested. "Writing autographs, probably. Well, sorry to dash off like this, but it's been a lovely party. Give my best to Percy when he arrives."

"It's a quarter to one," said Janice Hume. "I've never known him to be so late before."

She rose to her feet as a bell rang sharply at the back of the house to announce the arrival of some one at the front.

"There's your missing announcer," said Blackwood. "I'll slip out in the confusion."

The room which, for a moment, had fallen silent at the sound of the bell, broke suddenly noisy with speculative comment. It was the general opinion that the mercurial Percy had found some new and seductive admirer, and had lingered in her company. It was suggested that he might even have her with him. Zaida Lansing seemed annoyed by the suggestion. She headed a group of gossips who moved swiftly toward the door. In the midst of a lively babble the popular celebrity made his entrance—a fair-haired young man with eyebrows so curly that they seemed to wave about in an appearance of perpetual surprise. It was whispered that he had them plucked.

For a moment he stood framed within the doorway. Then he spoke. "This is Percy Jones," said Percy Jones exhaustively. "How do you do, ladies and gentlemen? I bring you music and happiness." The words were the opening sentences of his most popular programme.

His antennae fell upon him with rapturous enthusiasm. They flitted him and shook his hand with flattering presumption. It was several seconds before any of them noticed that his blonde beauty had been faintly married.

"Darling!" breathed Zaida Lansing. "What's happened to your face?"

"Well, well!" thought Riley Blackwood, pausing in his sneak to view the spectacle. So somebody had taken a poke at Percy, at last! A with dignity. "That happens to be the truth. I hope the little beast was healthy. I had her up against my shoulder, and suddenly—"

Zaida Lansing took possession of him with a proprietary air. "Come and have a drink, darling, and tell Zaida all about it."

SERIO-COMEDY IS ON PLAZA SCREEN

Margaret Sullivan Plays Leading Role in "The Moon's Our Home"—Good Cast

Margaret Sullivan rises to new heights of dramatic acting, with underlights of humor and comedy in the Cosmopolitan magazine serial, adapted to the screen as "The Moon's Our Home," and opening today at the Plaza Theatre. Miss Sullivan is supported by Henry Fonda and Charles Butterworth.

The second feature, "Here Comes Trouble," takes a boatload of stars out to sea and brings thrills, drama, comedy and romance to the screen. The entire story revolves about the romance of Paul Kelly, who acts the role of a third engineer on a Havana liner and his manhandling sweetie, Arline Judge.

Aboard the ship bound for Havana, are two gangs of jewel thieves, planning to steal a ruby which Gregory Ratoff is going to buy in the Cuban capital.

When the ship docks, Kelly and his wild-eyed pal, Sammy Cohen, get into so much trouble ashore that Kelly is demoted to the stoke hole on the return trip. Then, in a turn-of-events, he risks his own life to save that of Mona Barrie. But Miss Barrie's gratitude proves a bone of contention between Kelly and Miss Judge.

CAPITOL "The Outline of American Beauty" is registered on a new device, known as the "figure-scope," which adds Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer beauty experts in selecting America's most beautiful girls for glorification in "The Great Ziegfeld," currently playing at the Capitol Theatre. One of the lucky girls selected with the aid of the "figure-scope" was Georgia Spencer, of New Orleans, one of the glorified girls in the film of Ziegfeld's career.

DOMINION Appropriately titled "Speed," the picture now showing at the Dominion Theatre effectively mirrors the breakneck pace of the modern generation. Produced by Lucien Hubbard for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, "Speed" was directed by Edwin L. Marin, with James Stewart, Wendy Barrie, Una Merkel, Morgan Heburn, Ted Healy, Ralph Morgan and Patricia Wheeler.

An old-style bare-knuckle boxing bout is revealed in "The Amateur Gentleman," to the infamy for treatment, is a thrilling feature of "The Amateur Gentleman," the adaptation of Jeffery Farnol's famous romance of Regency England, which comes to the Atlas Theatre today, with Elissa Landi co-starring.

These old-time ring battles were quite unlike our modern fights in many respects. First and foremost, of course, was the fact that the protagonists wore no gloves to soften their blows, which made the sport much more brutal, and to add to this, the bouts were no mere ten-rounders, but stretched on and on and on.

Breath-taking suspense, thrilling-romance and accelerating action are artistically woven into RKO Radio's thrilling murder mystery, "Two in the Dark," the second feature.

Columbia Offers Thrilling Story

Should lottery be permitted to operate in the United States? "Confidential," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture now on the screen at the Columbia Theatre, is a highly dramatic story embracing this interesting question which now concerns every Atlantic citizen.

Revolving around the activities of a secret operator connected with the Department of Justice in Washington, "Confidential" depicts in exciting fashion his adventures in rounding up a gang of lottery racketeers who are amassing millions from a dishonest "number racket."

Donald Cook and Evelyn Knapp are cast in the two leading roles as a man and an innocent employee of the powerful mob.

JAMES CAGNEY STARS IN SHAKESPEARE FILM

James Cagney, Warner Bros. star, has never been at a loss when it comes to having something to say, especially when in the company of women.

However, in the Max Reinhardt production for Warner Bros., "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which comes to the new Oak Bay Theatre on July 13, Cagney, one of the film's many stars, loses his voice in a scene with comely Anita Louise.

Cagney can only gulp when he is supposed to carry on a conversation with the actress. The idea is Shakespeare's.

DUNCAN APPOINTS CITY DELEGATES

DUNCAN July 8—At last night's meeting of the Duncan and City Council, Mayor James Greig and City Clerk E. B. Fox were appointed delegates to represent the city at the Union of British Columbia Municipalities Convention at Vernon, September 22-23 next.

The city collector reported that 83.2 per cent of the current year's taxes had been paid by June 30. Sinking funds are intact and nothing is owing to the banks.

The Indian Department reported that in future all leases of Indian lands adjacent to the city will be subject to all city laws and ordinances, and that city officials are empowered to enforce these regulations.

New York Yankees Will Open Against Cleveland Indians

American League Pace-Setters to Commence Long Stay at Home With Important Series Today—Tigers Play Senators—Cubs Face Dodgers

NEW YORK, July 8 (AP)—After a three-day lay-off, during which their ace participated in the All-Star game at Boston, the major league teams return to action tomorrow with important games scheduled on all fronts.

New York Yankees, holding a ten-game lead over the second place Detroit Tigers in the American League, open a long home stand against Cleveland Indians. Oral Hildebrand is slated to take the mound for the Indians against Monte Pearson, winner of eleven games as against only three setbacks.

The Tigers, winners of twelve of their last fourteen games, engage the surprising Senators at Washington, while the third place Boston Red Sox entertain Chicago White Sox, and St. Louis Browns tackle the Athletics at Shibe Park.

The National League schedule calls for a double-header between the Dodgers and Cubs at Chicago, and a night game at Cincinnati involving Brooklyn Dodgers and the Reds. The Cardinals, holding a one-game lead over the Cubs, take on the skidding Giants at St. Louis, while Pittsburgh Pirates play host to the Phillies.

COAST LEAGUE July 8 (AP)—San Francisco's Seals opened the current series today with a 5-4 win over Portland, gained by a two-run rally in the ninth.

Manager "Lefty" O'Doul resumed play long enough to help in the victory. With the bases loaded in the ninth, he went in as a pinch hitter and drew a walk. He forced in Barath with the tying run. Brooks Holder broke the deadlock with a

STEELE AND RISKO WILL MEET FRIDAY

Tacoma Fighter Will Have Big Chance to Lift Middle-weight Crown

SEATTLE, July 8 (AP)—Primed and ready for the go are Babe Risko, middleweight champion of the world, and Freddie Steele, brilliant young Tacoma challenger. Both scrappers have gone through a grueling six weeks' period of training "grind" to set them for their fifteen-round titular argument at the Seattle Ball Park Friday night under the auspices of Nate Drumman.

Boxing fans from all over the West will jam the spacious park to take in the biggest fight event that has ever been presented in the Pacific Northwest.

The principals have both been pronounced in the pink of condition for the championship go. Risko underwent a thorough physical examination under Dr. J. S. Thomas, representative of the Washington State Athletic Commission, yesterday.

Both fighters are confident of victory. Boxing fans appear equally divided in picking the winner. Risko has been looking every bit a champion in his training sessions, while Steele has never looked better in his workouts at Tacoma.

All crowd records for a Northwest athletic event will be broken at the big fight Friday night. Drumman announces that there will be plenty of seats to take care of all of the out-of-town visitors, and those who haven't made reservations as yet through the Drumman Athletic Club, 2021 Second Avenue, can do so at the local ticket agencies when they arrive Friday.

BOTH CONFIDENT
Both fighters are confident of victory. Boxing fans appear equally divided in picking the winner. Risko has been looking every bit a champion in his training sessions, while Steele has never looked better in his workouts at Tacoma.

Today's ACT stock farm three-year-old, set the pace from the start to win handily, closely followed by her stablemate Bonny Grafton. Jockey Christensen, riding Bye Lo, was set down indefinitely by the judges after the race for allegedly crossing the field wide on the first turn.

The Taylor entry's win of the Leighton Handicap was the second feature race to go to the famous stock farm stable today.

Time Flight another Taylor speedster took a commanding lead from the start to cross the wire first in the Marcus Handicap for a $500 purse.

Trystland, owned by R. Somersby & Son, equaled the track record for six furlongs in winning the third race. She easily outraced Bold Courier and Whisper, although the latter closed fast on the finish.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"A PARTY MAN" "He serves his party best," said President Hoover in his inaugural address in 1927, "who serves his country best."

Then as now and perhaps as always—there existed conflicting views as to just what a man who is indebted to his party ought to do for it to show his gratitude.

There are those who hold that a party man is a party man—who thinks first, last and forever of his party, than whose welfare there is no other consideration, and whose interests he slavishly carries out.

This is the time-honored conception of a "party man"—a genius that has been in our midst as long as we have had parties.

One of the early appearances of the phrase in literature is in Sydney

Smith's "Peter Plymley's Letters," published in 1808.

MUST SERVE TERM OF SIX MONTHS IN JAIL

Edward Evans, who answers to two other names, John Evans and Timothy MacDonald, and who claims Ladysmith as his home, will spend six months in jail for the crime of having broken and entered the Johnson Street liquor store. The accused, when brought before the police magistrate yesterday morning, pleaded guilty, expressing a desire to have the case dealt with summarily and thus "get it over."

The evidence of Police Officers John Howe and Steve Dunsell in finding the accused sitting in store with two bottles of liquor partially consumed beside him was offered.

The accused had a previous conviction against him of stealing in Vancouver, for which he served fifteen days.

Jane Dixon Says:

GIRL WHO HAD UNHAPPY LOVE AFFAIR FIVE YEARS AGO NOW WANTS TO HAVE MEN FRIENDS AGAIN, BUT IS NERVOUS AND SELF-CONSCIOUS—IS TOLD TO FORGET HERSELF

Dear Miss Dixon: After an unhappy love affair several years ago, I lost all interest in men.

Now, I realize I was very foolish.

I would like to have men friends again, but I don't know how to have them.

I used to be very popular and had several chances to marry.

Many times men have asked to take me places. I would like to accept, but I'm afraid I'd be nervous and self-conscious.

I haven't had a date for five years.

Men are friendly with me and I would like to go places with them.

It's fear that prevents my accepting their invitations.

So I find myself lonely and blue.—Helen Mc.

HOW TO GET RID OF HER FEAR

Answer: If you will stop characterizing men as predatory animals and regard them as potential friends, your fear will disappear as a fog before a warm and shining sun.

One swallow doesn't make a Summer, and one unhappy love affair does not make an agonistic and a "crawler" out of a kind and courageous woman.

What is there to fear about an invitation to enjoy—to laugh and to live?

Instead of fearing the men who offer their camaraderie, you should be grateful that you are interesting enough and desirable enough to enlist their attention.

You "used to be popular" because there was joy and sympathy and trust in your heart.

You allowed one youthful experience with an unfortunate ending to knock you out.

If worth-while men and women permitted their interest in one another to die on the rocks of the first unhappy affair of their hearts, the low and marriage and homes in this jolly old world would be depleted by about 50 per cent—and 50 is a conservative figure.

SELF-CONSCIOUSNESS IS FORM OF EXAGGERATED EGO.

The next time a man invites you some place you'd like to go, accept the invitation.

Forget yourself.

Fill your mind with the place you are going, and the one who is kind enough and interested enough to seek your companionship.

Think about what you will wear, about how to do your hair in a new and becoming way, about the fun you are going to have.

Fear is a devil we create to destroy us—an invisible Frankenstein.

Self-consciousness is a form of exaggerated ego. No one of us is so important we can afford to concentrate on self to the exclusion of others.

People are interested in what we are and in what we do only when we are someone and when we do something.

Unless you take yourself in hand, cast out the demon of fear and remember you are not a centre of world interest but just another grain of sand on the human strand, another five years may elapse before you have a "date," and you will be lonely and blue to the end of the trail.

MIDNIGHT AND PERCY JONES
 by VINCENT STARRETT

Percy Jones agreed. "Perhaps not," he assented seriously. "Any way, I asked her if she was driving north, and she was. I said 'Let's go!' and off we went."

"Just like that," said Zeida Lansing. "Where was she going? In the car?" She didn't believe a word of the story, she told herself. Percy had always been a poor sort of liar.

"Of course not. The kitten came later. We stopped off for it," asked Constantine, smiling. "It wasn't a taxicab, by any chance?"

"Don't be silly. She was driving her own car, of course. There were just the two of us, and she asked me where I was going. I told her, and she said she'd drop me off."

"That was nice of her," commented Miss Lansing. "Who was she, if it isn't a secret?"

Percy Jones was only slightly embarrassed. "Hanged if I know exactly," he confessed. "Of course, I know where her aunt lives—that's where we picked up the kitten. She'd forgotten she had to pick up the kitten, you see, until we were nearly here, so she had to go back for it."

Naturally, I said I'd go with her. The kitten was at her aunt's—I told you that. It was a dingy little place, on one of those little cross streets, you know—old-fashioned and respectable enough, but—ah—well, shabby beneath. Old porcelain doorknobs and that sort of thing. I should imagine an artist would find it very attractive."

He paused for a drag at his cigarette, and they gathered that he was on delicate ground. It was at this point, no doubt, that the girl—if there had been a girl at all—had been violently kissed.

"Well," continued the narrator cautiously, "we sat in the car for a few minutes, smoking, when suddenly out of the house popped a Hindu servant, carrying the kitten. I believe the redhead had honked her horn as we came up, so there was no mystery about it except the Hindu."

"How'd you know she was a Hindu?" Blackwood was mildly interested.

"The story-teller smiled. 'I knew because she was a man, and he wore a turban around his head. You know, the sort of wrap-around that looks like a bath towel!'"

"Hm," said Riley Blackwood. "It was a curious tale, he was wondering cynically how much of it was true. The scratch was real enough at any rate, it was a rather ugly-looking affair, considering it's reputed origin. 'Well, what happened then, Percy?'"

"I'm afraid that's all," admitted the radio announcer. "The Hindu was the high spot. I'm afraid the rest is anticlimax. Sorry! He handed the kitten to the redhead, who handed it to me, and off we went again. The kitten didn't like me, or something, and it scratched me."

Miss Lansing was reflective. "And it took you three-quarters of an hour to do just that?" she taunted. "Tommyrot, Percy! You took the girl somewhere for a drink. Of course you did."

"I didn't," said Percy. "Naturally. I asked her if she cared for a drink, and she said she didn't. No, I took her home, after that, if you want the finish. That is, I drove with her to her hotel, and took a taxi back—back here. That's what took up the rest of the time. And now you have the complete account of my movements. I never did find out her name," he added humorously.

"Stop plaguing the poor man, Zeida," ordered their hostess. "He's here, but he? Get some more music, somebody! There's a dive in Gary that carries on all night, I think. It's somewhere in the low-wave numbers."

Blackwood, however, had begun to find the tale of the redhead, the kitten and the Hindu servant faintly stimulating. There was a quality of fantastic half truth about it that appealed to his detective-story mind.

"Just a minute," he protested. "Where did she live, Percy?—if it's any of my business?"

"Interested, eh?" The story-teller grinned. "Well, she lives at the Weldon Hotel, Riley, old sixth—a very nice little place, just back in the park, near Pullerton Avenue. We didn't see the animals as we came through the park—too dark—but we certainly smelled them."

"I know the place," said Blackwood. "You didn't go in with her?"

"No, ducky, I did not. I kept telling you I'm a straight-laced young man. I left the attractive female on the doorstep of her hotel."

"So that you don't really know whether she lives at the Weldon or not?"

Percy Jones was troubled and somewhat annoyed. "I suppose I don't," he admitted, after a moment, "but I imagine there's very little doubt of it. Why should she deceive me?"

"Why indeed?" agreed Blackwood. "Did she leave her car at the curb, by the way?"

"Well—yes, she did."

"And stepped back into it again as soon as your taxi was out of sight," said Blackwood reflectively. "I suppose you'd know her again, if you saw her?" He laughed and shrugged the problem from his mind. "Don't answer, Percy. But if your plans involve a search for the young woman, don't waste your time fooling around the Weldon Hotel. She never lived there in her life."

He stood upright, amid a shout of laughter, and strode into the entry to get his coat and hat.

"And that's that," said Janice Hume, with energy. "More music—quick! Who's that at the radio?"

It was the giggling debutante named Smale.

"Darling," continued her hostess, "Get something lively. We want to dance." In the miniature hallway, Riley Blackwood was slipping on his topcoat and reached for his stick. It had been a terrible party, he reflected morosely, and he was very glad to get away from it. As for Percy Jones, the man was simply in pain in the neck, as he had always known.

The radio began to hum and sputter under the unskillful hands of the fatuous Miss Smale. The dancers already were in motion. Blackwood laid a hand upon the doorknob, then suddenly paused to listen.

The incompetent young woman at the radio appeared to have picked up the Gary dance palace successfully, but not very accurately, though the lilting melody of the distant fox trot a powerful voice had begun to speak. Loudly, harshly, like a rising siren of disaster, it sounded above the rippling phrases of the dance, until it seemed to fill the room.

Blackwood's eyes were alight with a fanatic interest.

"Car 146—Investigate murder or suicide at 1440 Lake Shore Drive. Car 146—Investigate murder or suicide at 1440 Lake Shore Drive. Car 146—Investigate murder or suicide at 1440 Lake Shore Drive. Station WPPD, Chicago."

Three times repeated, the forceful monotone was at length imperative. It pierced the miasma of gin and futility like a cold breeze out of the lake. It halted the lilting dancers on their uncertain toes. It even alienated the melodious voice of Percy Jones himself, something no human enterprise before had ever accomplished. And the lovely widow, Janice Hume, at the sound of that startling interruption, stood pale and rigid—with heaving bosom—amid the crumbling ruins of her latest social calamity.

For even the foggiest intellect there among them had not forgotten that this was 1440 Lake Shore Drive, in a corner of which, for the time being, they drank and danced and lithered and played at living. (To Be Continued)

HEAVEN
 Heaven is not reached at a single bound.
 But we build the ladder by which we rise
 From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,
 And we mount to its summit round by round.

TRUTHS
 Wondrous truths, and manifold as sundrous
 God hath written in those stars
 above,
 But not less in the bright flowerets
 under us
 Stands the revelation of his love.

LOGAN FUTURE LOOMS BRIGHT

Saanich Plant of Fruit Exchange Is Busy Canning Island Berries

There is a bright future in store for canned loganberries, although the price this year is not as high as growers expected, according to William Kersey, manager of Vancouver Island Co-operative Fruit Exchange Cannery, Nicholson Street, Saanich. Importance of the export market for loganberries is stressed by the knowledge that wineries this year will not purchase their usual quota of 150 to 200 tons of fruit. Mr. Kersey explains the 8 per cent sales tax and 1 per cent sugar tax mean that growers are unable to profitably place canned loganberries on the domestic market. The plant heated a capacity of ten tons of canned fruit per day.

Before the strawberry season closed, the cannery shipped sixty tons of preserved fruit to the British Isles and thirty tons of fresh berries to Prairie provinces.

Strawberries for the English market pass through an ingenious shaker and sprayer which automatically picks out the straw and small berries from the perfect ones. From a slowly-moving belt the berries pass into barrels where they are treated with small quantities of calcium bisulphite and sulphur dioxide to preserve and keep them firm. Each barrel of processed fruit weighs 350 pounds.

PLANT OPERATION
 Loganberries are graded into tins containing exactly twelve ounces of fruit. They pass through a sifter and a long steam tunnel heated to 180 degrees to secure a 10 per cent vacuum. From there they go through a copper and into great tin barrels by steam. Then the tins pass through a water bath to be later labeled and packed in boxes holding twenty-four. At the peak of the fruit season the cannery employs forty men and girls.

Four years ago a number of Saanich fruitgrowers believed the old co-operative system had outlived its usefulness. A year later they took over the cannery, fully confident of the future. Although there are rigid membership rules before a grower may join the fruit exchange, non-members are able to dispose of their fruit under contract. Recently shareholders in the enterprise received a dividend of 8 per cent for the first three years' operation.

So far the plant has mainly handled strawberries and loganberries, but is capable of taking care of black currants, gooseberries, raspberries and blackberries. It is anticipated that the scope of its usefulness will be greatly extended within the next few years, according to Mr. Kersey.

 "CANCER"
 If July 9 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m., from 2:15 to 4:15 p.m., and from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:15 to 10:15 a.m., from 9:15 to 11:15 p.m., and from 9:15 to 11:15 p.m.

Too much self-confidence might tend to make you appear egotistic this day, so be watchful in this respect. Modest demeanor will accomplish more than a bombastic bearing. Those catering to the public's requirements will display poor judgment if they are indifferent to complaints. Treating ought to be brisk as well as profitable, if greed does not cause sellers to ask excessive prices. Avarice is apt to prove the stumbling block that will bring disaster to those who permit it to dominate them this day. To try to mix business with pleasure is likely only to result in having a pleasant, but expensive time. Married and engaged couples, and those who are going through the first stages of a serious love affair, will keep out of a lot of trouble this day if they refrain from insisting on having their own way regarding any matter where there is a difference of opinion.

If a woman and July 9 is your birthday, you are very conscientious, being perhaps very painstaking about whatever you do. You have the ability to handle people, and win their loyalty and confidence. You might be inclined to be a trifle too thrifty. It is as important that you learn to spend wisely as it is to have the correct idea of how to save. You probably resent anyone, or anything, placing a restraint upon your personal freedom. Some activity in restaurant, specialty shop, interior decorating or publicity work may enable you to make a great deal of money. Your married life will be very happy, providing you do not seek too many outside diversions which might cause you to neglect your home. This is a marital danger—those born on this date should not ignore.

The child born on July 9 ought never to be overindulged during its early childhood. Any form of selfishness must be frowned upon. Special attention should be paid to its manners.

If a man and July 9 is your natal day, you may be either entirely too conservative or recklessly enterprising. If you do not go to extremes, your chances for success are excellent. Botany, mineralogy, engineering, architecture, painting, writing or selling have wonderful opportunities to offer a man who celebrates this date as his birth anniversary.
